FINAL OUTCOME OF REPARATION PLAN DOUBTFUL

Even Original Sup- porters in America Now Uncertain.

Washington, Nov. 3.—The latest move to enlist American aid in solving the reparations puzzle, which began so auspiciously, now has come to a stage where even those who sponsored it most staunchly are extremely uncertain of the outcome.

Like every other recent effort to bring American influence to bear to heal the wounds of Europe, the new plan for an expert committee of inquiry has become entangled in the delicate adjusted network of relations between London and Paris and in such a manner that the American government cannot, at the moment take any step to extricate it.

There still is hope that in the end a workable plan will emerge from the almost hourly exchanges that appear to be passing between the British and French capitals and about which American officials have but a sketch and inconclusive knowledge.

Such advice as reached the state department today did nothing to encourage confidence in a satisfactory outcome however, and news despatches from aboard likewise were accepted as adding little to what had gone before.

Officials hereless
In the circumstances, officials repeated that they were helpless to do more than look on from a distance and await the result. The views of the United States are well known to both London and Paris, and if they are disregarded in the diplomatic formula finally worked out, President Coolidge and his advisers believe that none of the hopes for the plan can rest on Washington. From the very first this government has insisted that a full and free inquiry into the capacity of Germany to pay her reparations bill must be permitted if any real results are to be accomplished and that if any restrictions like those apparently favored by France are to circumscribe the investigation it scarcely will be worth while.

So clearly has this principle been enunciated in authoritative utterances both from the white house and the state department during the past 24 hours, and so lucidly has it been set forth in a series of informal conversations with the foreign diplomatic representatives here that officials were somewhat surprised today to learn that Premier Poincare had handed a new note to the British ambassador in Paris reiterating his position in favor of a restricted investigation only. It has not been felt here that a reiteration of the French viewpoint was needed.

Neither is there a clear comprehension here of the significance of reports current in London tonight that Great Britain and Belgium had agreed to have American participation in a free and full reparations investigation despite the protests of Paris. Almost a year ago Secretary Hughes laid down the principle that if American aid were to be applied to solution of the European problems at all it would be only when the European allies had agreed unanimously upon the method of that aid.

PHONE BOOK CAUSE OF HUBBY'S ARREST

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—When Mrs. Ethel Horstman, wife of Edward Horstman, vice president of the Stockman's Livestock Commission Co., found her husband's name in the telephone directory listed at another address, she went there and found another Mrs. Horstman.

Horstman was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Ethel Horstman, to whom he was married in May, last. The other Mrs. Horstman said she had been married to him for eight years.

Both declined to sign a complaint against him and a charge of bigamy was preferred by the police.

AMERICAN CAPTAIN CHEERED HEARTILY FOR SPORTSMANSHIP

Refuses to Sail Course to Gain Technical Victory.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 3.—Canada's champion fishing schooner, Bluenose, was tied up at her wharf in Lunenburg tonight and the American Challenger, Columbia was on the high seas homeward bound for Gloucester, while the International Fishermen's Trophy cup was safely locked in the safe of the race committee there to remain until competed for again next year.

Although the international event was declared no contest by the committee, Captain Angus Walters tied Bluenose up to her wharf with the cheers of Lunenburg's population ringing in the crew's ears. For to the Lunenburgers Bluenose still is the champion despite the race official's action in awarding the second race to the Columbia because the Nova Scotian had passed to the wrong side of a buoy. Bands and carnival streets greeted the Bluenose crew and Captain Walters went home at the head of a procession.

Halifax felt differently about it. Its citizens were silent when Bluenose slipped quietly out of the harbor yesterday after Captain Walters refused to sail a third race. But the fisher folk lined the wharves as the Columbia anchored. They cheered the Americans heartily and harbor craft wound their whistles as the Gloucesterman scurried for harbor entrance.

The demonstration, it was declared was accorded in tribute to Captain Ben Pine's refusal formally to sail the Columbia over the race course today and score a technical victory.

RED CROSS BUDGET FOR 1924 ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The American Red Cross budget for humanitarian activities in 1924 will be $12,000,000, the society announced today. The National and International program for advancing the welfare of peoples and communities was set $5,543,977.81, the remainder being allotted to 3,000 local chapters.

Completion of several large foreign operations permitted a reduction of more than $4,000,000 from the last budget, the statement said, operations in Asia Minor being estimated to have cost $7,600,000 and relief work in Russia about $1,840,000. For the first time in five years the foreign operations budget is placed below $10,000,000.

For assistance to veterans of the world war the new budget allows $2,065,000 an increase of $120,000 over the current year. The society estimated, however, that the expenditures for this work by headquarters and the local chapters would average $300,000 a month.

BANK PRESIDENT TAKES MONEY TO SCARE CASHIER

Replaces It Later— Jury Finds Him Not Guilty of Theft.

LANCASTER, Wis., Nov. 3.—C. S. Basford, former president of the People's State Bank of this city, which failed last spring with heavy losses to depositors and stockholders, was found not guilty by a jury in Judge Smalley's district court tonight of theft of $11,500 of the bank's money a year before the failure.

On the witness stand early today Basford admitted that he took the money but stated that he did so to scare J. H. Pugh, the cashier and L. A. Clark the vice-president of the bank whom he thought were careless in their methods of handling the bank's funds. It was shown that he returned the money to the bank. The jury deliberated nearly four hours before reaching a verdict.

Pugh is now serving a 17 year term at the state penitentiary for embezzlement, to which he entered a plea of guilty. Clark is to be tried at the January term of court on a similar charge.

CHICAGO TEAM WINS IN SIX DAY GRIND

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(A. P.)—Ernest "Hy" Kockler and Carl Stockholm, both of Chicago, won the six day bicycle race at the Coliseum which closed at 11 o'clock tonight; Maurice Brocco of Italy and Willie Coburn of Kearney, N. J., were second and Percy Lawrence of San Francisco and Joe Kopsky of Bohemia were third.

Despite efforts of some of the teams that were ahead in points but were behind in mileage, to make up the laps they lacked during the last hour of the race when every mile was a sprint and every sprint counted 72 points, the positions of the teams was unchanged with the exception that Maurice Brocco of Chicago and Anthony Beckman of Secaucus N. J., gained 1 lap on the field.

Only eight teams finished 146 hour grind which started last Sunday night at 9 o'clock. Four teams dropped out during the week and three tallenders were taken out this afternoon when the sprints for high points started.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Net earnings of the Illinois Power & Light corporation for the 12 months ending September 30 were 33 per cent more than those of the corresponding period last year a report from the general offices of the company today stated.

Net earnings for the twelve months were $7,792,517.17 the report showed, while in the same period in 1922 they were $6,919,163.93. Net earnings for September of this year were given at $682,766.05 as compared with $589,587.11 in 1922.

A portion of the big increase for the period was due to the additional properties acquired by the corporation during the year, the report said.

Quotas Of Several Countries Exhausted

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—More than 3,000 would-be immigrants including 1367 who came on the Leviathan, which arrived today from England face deportation, it was announced tonight by Commissioner of Immigration Curran, who said yearly quotas of several countries had been exhausted.

Commissioner Curran declined to say whether the aliens would be deported at once, declaring the disposition of their cases would be settled by Washington immigration authorities. He attributed the exhaustion of the British quota partly to the unusual rush of British immigrants across the Canadian border and also to the great influx of aliens from Great Britain to American ports in the past few days in order to enter before their allotment was filled.

A total of 2,269 aliens were examined at Ellis Island today.

SANTA BARBARA MAY NOW LAY CLAIM TO OLDEST INHABITANT

Scientists Say Skulls Found May be 8,000 Years Old.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Nov. 3.—Homo Barbarensis—the Santa Barbara man—lived in an era long before the Neanderthal and Heidelberg man and not in either the Paleolithic or Neolithic ages, according to scientists who flocked to Santa Barbara today to investigate the discovery of J. P. Harrington, a Smithsonian Institution worker who announced recently the finding of a prehistoric skull on the site of Burton Mound in this city.

Among the geologists and archaeologists who inspected the finds today were Dr. Robert T. Hill, a retired geologist of the Smithsonian Institution; Dr. W. S. Kow, of the United States geological survey; Dr. A. S. Stark, professor of Vertebrate Paleontology of the University of California and Ralph Arnold, Los Angeles scientist.

Close examination of the hard crust beneath which the skulls were found by the visiting scientists, these men asserted brought out signs of great age, probably from 5,000 to 8,000 years.

GOVERNOR COMMUTES NEGROES' SENTENCE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 23.—Gov. McRae announced tonight that on Monday he will commute to 12 years imprisonment the sentences of six Elaine negroes who for four years have been at the state prison awaiting execution and whose sentences of death have been confirmed by the state supreme court. The six are Ed and Frank Hicks; Frank Moore; J. E. Knox, Ed Cochran and Paul Hall, who with six other negroes were convicted Nov. 3, 1919 of murder in connection with the riots at Elaine, Phillips county in which four white men and an unknown number of negroes were killed.

D. LLOYD GEORGE SAILS FOR HOME UPON MAJESTIC

Finds America Hos- pitable And People Warm Hearted.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(A. P.)—David Lloyd George, war premier of Great Britain tonight was on his way home in a flower-filled suite on the Majestic, confident that his plea for the linking of the United States and the British Empire for world peace had been well received on his extended tour of Canada and the United States.

The stocky little Welshman sailed at mid-day with a final word on the reparations crisis:

"The effectiveness of Anglo-American co-operations," he repeated in the golfing phraseology of his last address at the Metropolitan Opera House last night depended upon whether America "followed through" the proposal of Secretary Hughes for an international commission to settle the sums that the defeated allies could and should pay.

France, he was confident, would heed the advice of the United States and Britain regarding German reparations.

"France would have been a vassal country but for your country and mine," he said, spiritedly.

Crowd Gathers.
A crowd of several hundred was on the pier to bid Mr. Lloyd George farewell after his month's visit to the new world.

Police who twice had foiled attempts of Irish Republicans in this city to insult the former statesman to his face, escorted him in considerable number from his hotel to the Majestic and no untoward incident occurred. Mr. Lloyd George sailed in complete ignorance of the fact that a Hindu disciple of Gandhi, originator of the non-cooperative movement in India, had been removed from the liner. The Hindu was reported to have followed the little Welshman on his tour and at one time to have been detained by Canadian officials.

Mr. Lloyd George was sorry to leave. He had found America "hospitable" its people "warm-hearted." His voice broke a little; his gratitude was almost childlike.

"Everywhere I went I was welcomed," he declared. "That touched me most of all. They were all glad to see me."

DEALER'S MORTGAGE COMES FIRST IN LAW

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 2.—Chattel mortgage rights of automobile salesmen, mechanics, and those who have purchased automobile salesmen, mechanics and payment plan been determined definitely by the general assembly, and by the Illinois Supreme court, according to an opinion of Attorney General Edward J. Brundage. A chattel mortgage held by a dealer as security for notes given by the purchaser of a car, the attorney general has advised holds priority over a mechanics garage bill.

"The garage owner or mechanic," his opinion reads, "is entitled to a lien upon the car for services rendered or material furnished but the mortgagee's claim is prior to that of the mechanics. Furthermore, the mortgagee is in no way responsible to the mechanic."

The Garage Keepers' Lien Act, passed by the Illinois legislature in 1907, sought to give garage keepers a lien prior to that of a recorded chattel mortgage. This act, according to Attorney General Brundage, was declared unconstitutional by the Illinois Supreme court in the case of Jones vs. Wilcox Lumber Co., for the reason that "it was special legislation in that it gave garage keepers rights superior to those of other persons similarly situated and in so far as it purported to give the garage keep a lien prior to that of a recorded chattel mortgage, enabling him to dispose of property without regard to the mortgagee's rights in violation of Section 2 of the Bill of Rights and impairing the obligations of contract."

The court further held that a chattel mortgage executed, acknowledged and filed for record as the statute requires is notice to all the world.

BEAU BRUMMEL WINS PIMLICO FUTURITY

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 3.—The winner of the $40,000 Futurity this afternoon's great feature at Pimlico came from Old Kentucky. It was the Idle Hour Stock Farm's Beau Brummel, and he won handily. A. H. Norris' Rustic was second; the Belair Stud's Aga Khan third and Harry Payne's Transmute fourth. The time for the mile was 1:39 4-5. The race netted the winner $54,030.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN WOULD BE FLORIDA SENATOR

Too Busy to Give Sufficient Time if Elected Governor.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 3.—William Jennings Bryan will not be a candidate for governor of Florida, but if tendered a position in the United States senate would be "pleased to consider it in the light of the larger opportunities which such a position would present for service to my party and the country at large."

Mr. Bryan made known his attitude in a letter to Frank Drew of Live Oak, who had inquired whether he would accept the gubernatorial nomination. The letter was made public here tonight.

"The governorship of Florida is a very high office, worthy of the aspirations of any citizen, but its duties are exacting," Mr. Bryan's letter said.

"No one can live up to its great responsibilities without giving his entire time to it. I am not in a position to do this. I am under obligation to the Democratic party of the nation which has three times honored me with a presidential nomination and the more than 6,000,000 Democrats who have three times voted for me."

GORGAS PLANT MAY BE RECONSTRUCTED AT MUSCLE SHOALS

Believed by Some That Move Would Solve Difficulty.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—A plan for the solution of the Muscle Shoals problem which would provide in the properties for which Henry Ford has bid, a plant to take the place of the Gorgas Steam Plant, sold recently to the Alabama Power company has been worked out here by friends of the Detroit manufacturer and will be submitted to him soon for approval.

Representative Byrns, Democrat of Tennessee, it was learned here tonight has been in conference in Washington with others who have backed the Ford offer with a view to having the government duplicate the Gorgas plant and place it definitely in the Muscle Shoals enterprise. Such a project it is said by some of those favoring it could be erected with the proceeds of the sale of the Gorgas plant and its erection would solve the difficult situation which has complicated the whole Muscle Shoals program.

LEAGUE RE-ELECTS CRABTREE PRESIDENT

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 3.—E. E. Crabtree, Jacksonville elected president of Illinois Municipal League today. Decatur prominently mentioned for next convention. W. G. Spaulding, Springfield, named as vice-president. Elmer Neffziger, Decatur, general counsel.

MRS. CATT UPHOLDS LEAGUE OF NATIONS

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Four feasible proposals for ending war have been made during the past 100 years and all of them were made by America. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, honorary president of the International Suffrage Alliance said today at the monthly Forum of the Chicago League of Women Voters.

One of these proposals she said, was the League of Nations, which she described as "an American idea which is a going concern with fifty-four nations in it doing their best to end war."

The first of the proposals to end war was made by Benjamin Franklin after the Revolutionary War, she said, when he suggested to European nations to follow the American example and form a United States of Europe to keep the nations from fighting among themselves.

The third proposal, Mrs. Catt said is the world court which she described as an American idea.

PREMIER THINKS NO QUESTION OF AMOUNT OF DEBT

Only Argument is on Ability of Germany to Pay Now.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—(A. P.)—Premier Poincare reaffirmed his reservation limiting the scope of the proposed reparation conference in a note handed to Lord Crew, the British ambassador this afternoon regarding the text of the invitation to the United States.

Premier Poincare, according to a semi-official communiqué developed at length in a friendly tone the reasons he considers to justify the limitations he had previously placed on the conference's work. The premier said in substance that the inquiry could only deal with Germany's present capacity for payment because it was impossible to fix definitely except for a very short period what Germany could pay, as her economic power might be considerably increased in the near future.

M. Poincare furthermore said it ought to be understood that the experts named by the reparation commission could have wider powers than the peace treaty gives the commission. The experts could not any more than the commission make any decision concerning the eventual reduction of the German debt, he declared unless such decision were adopted unanimously by the governments represented on the commission.

Quotas of eleven countries including Great Britain have been exhausted. Commissioner Curran said he had been informed by telephone by Commissioner General of Immigration Husband of Washington.

Mr. Curran said he expected about 2,000 British subjects would be sent back unless some of them, along with subjects of other countries were allowed to enter under special rulings.

Russia also has exceeded her quota by 500. Mr. Curran said, while the other immigrants likely to be deported come from Greece, Egypt, Albania, Turkey, Palestine, Portugal, "other Europe" and "other Asia" under which several smaller nations are listed.

More than 10,000 immigrants are on ships in the harbor awaiting examination at Ellis Island, the commissioner said. He characterized the influx as one of the worst jams the department has ever faced. In addition to the 1367 on the Leviathan, there were 523 on the Majestic, 548 on the Belgenland, 158 on the Cleveland and about 400 aliens on other vessels who were in excess of quotas. Most of the British were said to be on the Leviathan.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—(A. P.)—Agreement between France and Great Britain on the invitation to be sent to the United States to join in the conference of experts to consider the reparation question still hinges upon the single word "present" which Premier Poincare proposes to insert in the British draft of the invitation in order to limit the invitation to Germany's present capacity to pay.

The premier is willing to give a little elasticity to the word just enough to include the immediate future, but he remains firm in his determination not to allow the eventual ability of Germany to acquit herself of her reparation obligation to be forestalled by the estimate of experts or others. His attitude is that Germany must begin to pay, that it will appear after she has made the effort whether she can pay in full or not, and that it will be time enough to talk or reducing her debt when she has shown willingness to do so.

A THOUGHT
The times of this ignorance
God winked at; but now com-mendeth all men everywhere to repent.—Acts 17:30.

It is never too late with us, so long as we are still aware of our faults and bear them impatiently
—so long as noble propensities, greedy of conquest, stir within us.
—Jacobi.

While that international commission is readjusting German reparations, it might casually inquire how and when Germany is going to pay what it owes this country.

Railroad and industrial securities look like bargains now, but the ordinary investor will probably wait, as usual, until prices shoot up again.

At any rate the $15,000,000 suit of the shop men's organization against the Pennsylvania road should with further definitiveness determine the powers of the railway labor board.

The paragraph of the St. Louis Globe Democrat remarks that Henry Ford may refer to history as bunk, but that he is nevertheless making pages of it almost every week.

People are still very willing to invest money in religious enterprises when they think that the need exists and that the money will be spent. Note the fact that the committee on conservation and advance of the Methodist church had receipts during the month of October of $4,348,000.

Ambassador Harvey is returning to the U. S. from England with a good record to his credit.
Nevertheless there are prominent Americans who are so glad that he is leaving the service that they will join most heartily in any reception in honor of the return of the late ambassador, Col. Harvey as a public official continued his characteristic as a private citizen of "speaking his mind."

Miss Helen Bennett in addressing Republican women at their conference in Chicago, said that one of the first requisites of a successful candidate is continued good humor. Certainly that quality is a great asset for anyone engaged in politics or in any other line of activity. The man or the woman who can meet conditions as they come with a smile or at least with calm and undisturbed spirit certainly has the battle

—very well fought.
To quote Miss Bennett:
"The first requisite of a woman candidate, is indefatigable good humor." Good-natured activity in victory or defeat and a determination to play the game with a smile should be cultivated."

Publishers' records show that a "best seller" nowadays may the author, in book royalties and serial rights, $100,000 with more in sight if the novel is well adapted to dramatization or movie production. But best sellers as everybody knows, are a small part of the vast fiction output. The 99 percent of authors, including those who earn a fair living from their work, are said to average about $520 a book.

There is surely little in these figures to encourage aspiring young writers, unless they are confident of their own powers or regard literary success as a mere gamble worth a hundred-to-one shot. The record means, to the great majority, loss of money, time and strength.

IMMIGRATION LET-UP

With the rush of immigrant-carrying ships to reach Ellis Island at the beginning of the present month, there is a respite until the first of next July. The quotas of nearly all the countries have been filled in five months, leaving the next practically free.

It will be a welcome pause in the scramble, affording relief to the over-worked officials at New York and other important ports of entry and giving the country another breathing spell — none the less pleasant because it is not needed so much as it was in the days when a million aliens a year were pouring in.

This pause, too, should facilitate the task of Congress, already too long delayed, of framing and putting into effect a new, adequate, permanent immigration law, so that the scramble, with all its attendant confusion and hardships, will not be resumed when the new fiscal year begins.

HOW TO MAKE A BILLION

In a newly issued booklet, Northwestern University tells the American people how to make a billion dollars a year—or what is the same thing, how to save it. The process is simple. Just keep well.

A billion dollars, say the university's medical authorities, is a moderate estimate of the annual cost of illness in the United States. In Illinois alone there are 200,000 persons regularly on the sick list, and in the whole country, more than 3,- 000,000. To bring the cost of this wastefulness down to comprehensible figures, it is about $500,000 an hour.

A billion dollars a year, it may be observed, is fair interest on a principal of $20,000,000-000. Thus, if we merely stopped being sick, it would amount to conquering our national debt, or making ourselves a reservoir of about $1,000 per family.

Is it worth while to be well?
It certainly is, from the purely material point of view. And most people will agree that the pain, discomfort, boredom and general objectionableness of being sick are worse than the economic loss. Health is literally priceless. There is respectable religious authority for the statement that one cannot even be a good man without health, because genuine virtue requires energy of body and mind.

But what can be done about it? "If preventive measures could be made available for the poorest communities as they are for the best," say the authorities referred to, "a reduction of from 10 to 25 percent could be brought about in causal illness.
At least $100,000,000 of the money lost each year in illness could be saved. Moreover, almost 250,000 deaths could be prevented."

This means more public attention to health. Still larger gains might be made if individuals in every community would live up to the simple health rules they know but fail to practice, regarding diet, ventilation, exercise, sleep and the avoidance of contagion.

BIG MOVIE NEWS NEA

A battle apparently starts to reduce the high cost of making movies, especially the fabulous salaries paid to movie stars.
Adolph Zukor announces that the eastern and western Famous Players-Lasky film studios will shut down, halting work by 16 companies of movie actors.

Some of the stars affected by the shut-down are Pola Negri, Bebe Daniels, William S. Hart, Gloria Swanson and Thomas Meighan.
Production costs are too high,
in addition to overproduction, says Zukor. He says he's aiming for a lowering of movie salaries, cost of stunting and mechanical expenses.

The making of movies is only secondarily an art. Primarily it is a business, as much so as selling sausages or hardware, or groceries. The public knows this, and it naturally must be surprised that producers find the costs of making pictures too high, in view of what the public pays to see the films.

It is quite possible, and probable, that Zukor's shut-down will mean an end of "super-films" and a return to simplicity.

The theater met the same sort of crisis years ago. Shows had been running to the extremely spectacular. Production costs had become almost prohibitive. Then Eugene Walter wrote "Paid in Full," starting an epidemic of plays with small casts. Producers naturally liked the small cast idea; a few actors to pay, few scenery changes. A show could be "tried out on the dog" without gambling much money.

The small cast injected real art into the American theater.
This bit of history may repeat in the movies.

WINCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Haskell are

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM
A QUERY
BY BERTON BRALEY
YOU say your taxes are too high,
But do you vote?
About extravagance you sigh,
But do you vote?
How long, you wail, must we endure
This state of things which keeps us poor?
How long? I do not know, I'm sure;
But do you vote?
THE lights are bad, the streets a mess;
But do you vote?
Your indignation you express,
But do you vote?
You say the bosses rule the show,
That graft is reaching high and low,
And doubtless all you say is so,
But—do you vote?
YOU growl at rotten politics,
But do you vote?
You howl at bosses and their tricks,
But do you vote?
You say, oh Decent Citizen,
(We've heard you, time and time again)
"We want things run by Business men!"
But—do you vote?
Unless you do (I wonder, DO you?)
You've got just what is coming to you!

MERRY GO ROUND IS A GREAT PICTURE

"Merry-Go-Round," one of the very few great screen masterpieces in the history of motion pictures, produced by the Universal at a cost of more than $1,000,- 000, opens its four day engagement today for the first time at the Majestic theatre. "Merry-Go-Round" has received more praise at the hands of newspaper critics throughout the country than any big film in a decade. In countless ways it surpasses any picture ever made, and for sheer dramatic quality, great acting and potency of story telling it is supreme.

Although the Missouri theatre of St. Louis has one of the large-est seating capacities of any other house in the country, "Merry-Go-Round" when it played there two weeks ago broke all attendance records.

Practically every human being in the United States who hasn't been at Coney Island, the famous eastern pleasure spot, has read about it time and again.

There is a certain fascination about the atmosphere of that carnival section. There are freaks of all types, human and animal, clowns, pretty girls and strong men. Behind their makeups and pretences, they are human, as more than one fictionist has discovered and written.

Vienna was once the most dazzling center of Europe. Besides it had a romantic glamor differing from the appeal that any other Continental capital held for the average tourist. Its Coney Island, called the Prater, was a great sight. Then the war came along and—well, those people are human, just as they would be on this side of the water. They suffered; gold, stars, starvation and poverty.

"Merry-Go-Round," which cost time, money and cars to film, is the story of two lovers separated as widely by caste as two human beings could be. One is a poor girl of the Prater, an organ grinder. The other is a young count, aide to the Emperor and slave to every royal whim—but leading a life of pompous idleness.

The father and mother of the girl, a faithful hunchback sweetheart, a great beast of a man who rules a big concession—these and others of the picturesque population of the Prater appear in
"Merry-Go-Round."
Mary Philbin, Universal's "discovery" of the year, plays the organ grinder's role. Norman Kerry, George Hackathorne, Dale Fuller, George Seismann, Al Edmundson, Cesare Gravina, Edith Vorne, Lillian Sylvester, Maude
George, Dorothy Wallace, Sidney Bracy, Spottiswoode Aitken, Maurice Talbot, Fenwick Oliver, Albert Conti, Anton Vavorka, Charles L. King, Helen Bronson, Jane Sherman and others handle the dramatic roles.

"Merry-Go-Round" was nine months in the making and more than 1,000 actors and actresses took part. The cost of building the elaborate sets to duplicate the Prater, which is the Coney Island of Vienna, the emperor's castle and other historic spots was enormous, but this expenditure was more than justified by the final excellence. Travelers who have visited Vienna admit that Universal has achieved something very much worth while in duplicating the locales so faithfully.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC NOTES

Madame Colard, soprano, will give the second of the Faculty recitals on Monday evening, November 5 at 8:15.
Madame Colard has chosen a program which is truly representative of the best in classical and modern song literature. Of special interest is a group of Danish compositions, dedicated to the singer, and presented in Jacksonville for the first time.
Madame Colard will also sing Schubert's Erlkonig, which is one of the most exacting numbers in the German Lied repertoire.

Miss Sapiro was enthusiastically received on her appearance at the Senior and Junior High school as-semblies on Thursday morning. She played numbers by Chopin, Alkan Foote and Debussy.

Many enthusiastic comments have been made on Miss Kirby's recent appearance with Miss Davis, when she gave a most artistic and sympathetic interpretation of Sadee Coe's musical setting to "Hiawatha."

Fredericka Balch played several violin solos at the Thursday afternoon session of the Missionary Conference which was held in Grace church. She was accompanied by Velma Kitchell.

Frances Luke played on Wednesday at the Music Appreciation class in High school. She was also heard at a Sunday school supper at State Street Presbyterian church recently and will play for the Alpha Pi Delta Society on Tuesday.

Elva Becker gave vocal numbers at the Missionary Conference at Grace church on Nov. 2.

Ray Volbrath played piano numbers at Tuesday's assembly of the Junior High school.

Great interest is felt in the forthcoming appearance of Emil Telmányi, Hungarian violinist, in the second of the Artist Concert Series on November 12. This distinguished artist was recognized as a musical prodigy at an early age, but continued in serious study with the famous Hubay, until his great talent was more fully developed. Recognition came quickly to him and he soon became a familiar figure on the concert stages of Scandinavia, Germany, Austria and Holland, where the name "Telmányi" is sufficient to fill any hall, and already in this country his concerts are given before sold-out houses. Mr.
Telmányi's program will contain the famous "Devil's Trill" sonata by Tartini, whose inspiration is said to have come to him from the Evil One who appeared in a dream, and which has taken the form of a wonderful composition, bristling with difficulties for the average violinist. Other numbers will be Lalo's Spanish Symphony, another masterpiece of the violin repertoire, and several lighter compositions, some arranged by the artist. No one should miss the opportunity of hearing this interesting program, played by the greatest Hungarian violinist of the day.

Gwendolynne Schreyer gave a vocal solo during the morning service at Centenary church on Sunday, Oct.
28.

Miss Myrtle Sheppard, who was in charge of the children's music department at I. W. C. for four years, is presenting her pupils this week in a radio concert at Los Angeles, Calif.

LOVE FOR CHILDREN SHOWN AFTER DEATH

BOSTON (AP)—A char-woman's devotion to children has been revealed through the receipt by the treasurer of the Children's Hospital of this city of her bequest of $1,400 to make the lives of unfortunate little ones a bit easier.

Kate Lucy Walsh lost all three of her own children when they were young. Thereafter she devoted her life to making other women's children happier, and in many a household where she was employed her hearty laugh and cheerful outlook on life dispelled momentary clouds.

Mrs. Walsh was more than 70 years of age when she succumbed to pneumonia. Her will made the Children's Hospital her sole legatee and the executors found that her saving from a life of hard work amounted to the sum which has been turned over to the hospital. Above a little bed in the hospital will be placed a tablet bearing her name.

PRESENT STATUS OF STRESEMANN CABINET IS STILL DOUBTFUL

Remaining Members Wait For Instruction From Parties.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—(A. P.)—The parliamentary situation insofar as it concerns the continuation in office of Chancellor Stresemann and his cabinet remains wholly unclarified. None of the three bourgeois parties whom the chancellor invited to continue in the government had received instructions nor have the German Nationalists given any hint of their attitude toward a strictly bourgeois ministry.

Dr. Stresemann is not pressing the issue for the moment and today conferred with his remaining ministers over emergency legislation made urgent by the continuing financial and social disruption. Several measures calculated to regulate prices were hastily put into effect but the situation is so rapidly getting beyond control that even drastic eleven-hour workweeks appear wholly inadequate to forestall further confusion in money and prices, or halt the widely ramified dislocation of food supplies.

FOREIGN IMMIGRANTS TRAPPED BY CROOKS

Natives of Every Nation Are Persuaded to Make Payment for Assistance Into United States.

HAVANA, (AP)—Careful estimates place at 8,000 the number of immigrants now in Havana, hoping in some way to be able to get to the United States. They include Spaniards, Germans, Poles, Ukrainians and men from almost every country in southern Europe. Many of them, according to Arthur C. Frost, the American consul, were lured from their native land by stowaway agents who promised high wages in the cane fields of Cuba while waiting. And in addition there are several thousand Chinamen whose only hope of entry is in being smuggled ashore at some remote spot on the American coast.

These credulous and ignorant wayfarers are easy prey for crooks. Many of them are persuaded to pay money to strangers in the belief that their entry to America will be hastened. Not long ago a trusting Pole gave $100 as first payment to an impostor who promised, in return, to land him in the United States for $200.

From time to time small groups do start for the American shore, but hardly a day passes without some unfortunate foreigner turning up at the American consulate here with a pitiful tale of a fraudulent scheme worked on him under the promise of a speedy passage across the Florida straits. The Cuban police are helping to break up the practice.

FLYING IN LONDON SAFER THAN WALKING

LONDON, (AP)—According to officials of the London "Safety First Council," it is less safe to walk the streets of London than to travel by rail or by air.

During the past year 684 people were killed and 26,322 injured in London's streets. During the same time the toll on the whole of England's railways was only 728 killed and 19,462 injured.

Long periods of flying occur without a single passenger being killed.

Of the fatal accidents in London, 505 were caused by motor-cars, motor-vans, etc., and 63 by motor-buses.

OLD AT PLAYING CARDS

Mexican Artificers of 1580 Became Imitators of the Spanish Invaders.

In 1580 the manufacturers of Pueblo and Oaxaca produced silk and woolen goods equal to the average of European standards, and, curiously enough, or perhaps as an indication of the habits of the Colonial Spaniards, playing cards were made in great numbers (9,000 dozen one authority states). In the Museum of the Indies in Seville, Spain, there is a pack of playing cards made in 1583. The faces of the cards are imitations of the European types, but the backs represent Aztec scenes and caricatures of the Spaniards. These were made from wood blocks, perhaps the first cut in the new world.

Of all the European races that came to the new world, Dutch, English, French and Spanish, the Spaniards had the most to give in matters artistic. For they had not only a reminiscence of a splendid and vigorous Gothic tradition, but the great enrichment of eight centuries of contact with the Moors, the recent conquest of their splendid cities and a far extended trade in the Levant.

Spain was peculiarly fortunate in the fact that her Argosies touched the most cultivated and highly civilized people in the new world. They were craftsmen equal to any that Europe knew. They had arts as highly developed as any brought to them by their conquerors. But it is the record of art history that the more highly developed peoples are that come in contact, the surer are they to borrow one from the other. The dramatic entrance of the Spaniards, their apparent justification of the ancient miracles recorded in native folk stories regarding the bearded white strangers from the sea, their unquestioned military strength and the interest that always is associated with the exotic, all strongly moved the native artisans and craftsmen to imitation.

LIZARD EGGS SCARE OVER

Housewives in England Believed They Were Being Sold Eggs of Reptilian Origin.

It's a misuse of words to say "trade is dull." Sales may be slow or business bad; but trade is never dull. And truth even about trade can be more fascinating than fiction. On trade our very civilization stands. It's trade that tempts man to war and war makes heroes, adventure, romance and love! Trade—commerce—traffic between men and nations, in one of its myriad phases, hatched the plot for every story ever written. So long as men barter and sell and fight over their possessions, comedy and drama will find their plots. Sometimes in trade there develops the ridiculous. For instance, English housewives threw a fit lately when the alarm was spread that lizard eggs were sold in the markets and labeled "hen eggs." They had been shipped in from China and Egypt, the story said, and excitement was so great the women didn't calm down until an agent from the zoological society appeared in the house of commons and testified as an expert that England wasn't being fed on lizard eggs.

London bought 250,000,000 eggs from the East last year; many of these, he said, were so much smaller than the average hen egg that the cry started about their being of reptilian origin. The tree-climbing Gecko lizard does lay a fair-sized, hard-shelled egg—fit for food—we are told. But she's not built to stand the wear and tear of laying eggs as big as hen fruit.—Nation's Business Magazine.

Proved His Point.
In the rough and tumble of an electrifying contest Sir E. Ashmead-Bartlett was more successful than he proved in the finer fence of the British house of commons. But he sometimes met his match in Yorkshire, the county of his constituency.

At one of the gatherings in an electoral campaign he was frequently interrupted by a man in the body of the hall, who resented his uncompromising attacks upon political opponents.

The knight bore this trial with admirable good humor, till, seeing an opening for scoring a point, he said:

"Now I am going to tell you something about the government that will make my friend's hair stand on end," indicating, with a smiling nod, the vigorous critic in the body of the hall.

"Wrong again," shouted the irrepressible one, removing his cap and displaying a head as smooth as a billiard ball; "it can't be done."—Exchange.

Was Well Posted.
A judge was pointing out that a witness was not necessarily to be regarded as untruthful because he alters a statement made previously.

"For instance," he said, "when I entered this court today I could have sworn I had my watch in my pocket. But then I remembered I had left it in the bathroom at home."

When the judge got home that night his wife said: "Why all this bother about your watch—sending four or five men for it?"

"Good heavens!" said the judge.

"What did you do?"

"I gave it to the first one who came. He knew just where it was."

No Chance.

ONE COMPANY OWNS MANY BUILDINGS

CHICAGO—If all buildings of the Hawthorne Works of the Western Electric company here were taken from their foundations and distributed throughout the state there would be just enough to place one in every county in Illinois, it has been revealed. If that procedure were considered infeasible, it is pointed out, every building at the works could be named after a county and the entire state represented on the 216 acre manufacturing site of the company.

The one hundred and second structure to join the Hawthorne group now is being rushed to completion, a $3,000,000 project, and bring the company's working force close to 40,000.

PRODUCE MARKET
Poultry has moved in such volume the past few weeks that the large consuming centers have been badly overstocked, making it necessary to price larger quantities in storage for later use. As indications are that there is still a larger volume to be moved, it would seem that present markets are high.

Receipts of fresh eggs would indicate that production for the season are about over. As a result, storage eggs are moving more freely into consumptive channels, although at present values they represent a loss to the owners.

Markets for butter have worked to a higher level due to light production and good demand. With a good winter production, markets should not work much above present levels.

SCIENTISTS START ON LONG VOYAGE

NEW LONDON, Conn. — (A. P.)—While Capt. George Finlay Simmons has been scouring the country for a staff and crew to take the schooner "Blossom" into the South Atlantic and Indian Oceans, the ship itself has been prepared for one of the longest cruises ever undertaken by a vessel of her size.

The expedition to the Antarctic islands which starts from New London this week for the Cleveland Museum of Natural History is said to be one of the largest ever undertaken for purely scientific purposes. Every one of the 16 men aboard ship, except the three ship's officers, is trained in some line that will aid in the collecting of animal and bird specimens and in taking notes on the geology, plant life, sometimes human life, and climatic conditions in the regions that will be visited.

The Blossom will visit the least known portions of the world on her two year cruise. Explorers have gone over the Pacific islands and other tropic regions with fair thoroughness. Even the polar regions have been visited in recent years by men who have taken accurate observations of the lands through which they traveled. The South Atlantic islands, however, have been visited only by seal and sea elephant hunters, who brought back romantic stories, but little accurate information of scientific value.

At the helm of this ship will be

John da Lomba, a Cape Verde Portuguese, who has sailed the seven seas for 32 years under one master, Capt. John Cleveland of New Bedford, said to be the "last of the old sailing captains." Da Lomba is reputed to know every rock in the Atlantic, and has made several voyages to the islands which he will now visit for the purpose of aiding in a search for knowledge of the world we live in.

At the head of the ship's staff is E. H. Gray, sailing master of sail and second mate of steam in any ocean and for any tonnage. Capt. Simmons will command both the navigating and scientific personnel of the vessel. Members of the crew are all college trained men, who will, in between their duties of hoisting sail and scrubbing decks, carry out their additional duties of surveyor, ship's clerk or whatever additional capacity they were selected to fill.

The Blossom is a three master, built originally for the coastwise cargo. The exhibition will spend the coming Antarctic summer in the South Atlantic, then cruise along the West African coast visiting the islands of that region, and then make for the Indian Ocean. She will restock twice at Cape Town, possibly a third time on the return voyage, and at each stop will ship home the specimens already collected.

Miss Hattie Montgomery is spending the week visiting friends in St. Louis.

EXPLAIN WHY DOGS HOWL

Scientists Declare Canine Occasional Reverts to Savagery of His Ancestor, the Wolf.

What makes your dog lift up his nose and howl? It's the wolf in him, say scientists.

For every dog, no matter what his breed, has a strain of wolf in him, a wolf having been the far-off father of all dogs. And just as a reasonable human being will sometimes give way to primitive instinct under the influence of some violent emotion, so the best-trained dog will occasionally revert to the savagery of his ancestor, the wolf.

Exactly as a man will often raise his head in unconscious imitation of his caveman forebear, so your pet dog will at times show the instincts of his parent wolf. Watch your dog turn around and around before lying down before a fire, just as the wolf makes himself a lair; listen to him howl as the wolf howls.

The pointer is only an exaggerated instance of man's improvement on the original dog or wolf. Every dog pauses before his spring; man selected to breed from the dog which paused the longest, and so in time arrived at a dog which pointed and didn't spring at all. The greyhound is another instance; for his particular job he needed little scent and little brains, but perfect eyesight and speed. By selecting only those dogs which possessed these qualities the present type was reached. But every dog, wherever he lives, whatever use man is making of him, comes from the common source, the wolf.

BRIDAL GOWN HUGE TASK

Mothers of Girls on Island in Dutch West Indies Work Six Years on Dress.

On the island of Madura, in the Dutch West Indies, the girls marry when they are very young. Twelve years is the average when a girl takes on the responsibility of making a home. In fact, if she were unmarried at fourteen she would be considered an "old maid."

The bridal gown is a very complicated, gorgeous and valuable garment, hand-woven silk being the base of the wedding dress. This is only the start.

After this beautiful material has been woven there comes the tedious, fine work of embroidery. Thousands of tiny stitches are taken and the most beautiful colors are worked into the silk.

Even when the gown is at this stage of construction it is quite a gorgeous and imposing affair. But the final decoration has not been started yet.

Now comes the gold which is added. Into the skirt, around the waist and over the shoulders are applied very beautifully, glisten designs of hand-beaten gold. In Madura it takes many a mother all the spare hours of six years to make one of these gorgeous wedding dresses.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Real Test.
The unsuspicious-looking tramp was sitting with his back to the hedge, eating some food out of a piece of newspaper.

Presently a woman, out for a stroll with her pet dog, came along. The little animal soon scented the food, and immediately ran up to the tramp and tried to take something out of the paper. The tramp's grimy face immediately became suffused with a smile, which the lady put down in her own mind as rather nice in that sort of a person.

"Shall I throw the little dog a bit?" asked the tramp, as her pet still sniffed at the food.

The woman was much gratified with this appearance of kindly interest and gave her assent. The tramp seized the dog by the scruff of its neck and tossed it over the hedge, remarking:

"And if he comes back, ma'am, I might throw him a bit more!"

Boy Couldn't Smile Properly.
He had always been a courteous and obliging elevator boy, and so one morning when, instead of appearing on duty in the passenger elevator in the front hall, he was found operating the service one in the rear, one of the tenants insisted upon knowing the reason.

"Why, what's the matter?" she asked him, determined if he had been demoted for some supposed fault she'd do her best to have him reinstated.

He smiled an amiable yet startling smile. His mouth was devoid of teeth.

"Yuh see, it's like this," he explained. "I was to the dentist's yesterday," pointing to his toothless gums. "And I reckon I ain't no pretty sight to be greetin' people at the front door. But yuh jes wait till I gets my new ones."

Mme. Benedict Arnold a Belle.
The wife of Benedict Arnold, the traitor, who sought refuge in England, was a reigning Philadelphia belle, and the toast of the British officers while their army was in that city. The extravagance of Arnold produced the want of money and probably the predilections of the wife, for what was splendid in the British army influenced them both to forget home and country for a great but illusive hope.

An account in the London Spectator in 1838 said that the two sons of Arnold—James B. and William F.—then middle-aged men, were living in England; and that each of them received a pension of $1 pound a year from the British government.—Detroit News.

PLANS ARE FORMED FOR POULTRY TEST

Will Inspect Farm Flocks For Purity of Breed, Production Qualities and Disease.

SPRINGFIELD. — (By the A. P.)—Planned for the purpose of improving quality and building a reputation for Illinois Poultry products, a program of inspection and certification of farm poultry flocks and hatcheries was inaugurated at a meeting in Springfield of fifty poultry breeders and hatchery men.

The Division of Standardization and Inspection of the State Department of Agriculture will inspect farm poultry flocks for purity of breed, production qualities and disease. There will be a further inspection service for hatcheries which will use eggs from inspected farm flocks only. Hatcheries passing the required standard will be placed on an accredited list and their products will carry a state accredited label.

"This plan will not only insure hatcheries of quality eggs, but will be a protection against unscrupulous hatcheries and will be a guarantee of quality baby chicks to the purchaser," said Lyle Funk of Bloomington, chairman of the meeting.

A second part of the plan is to test farm flocks for Bacillary White Diarrhea, the most dangerous disease to poultry, and placing disease free flocks on a state accredited list similar to state accredited herds of cattle free from tuberculosis. State Veterinarian Dr. F. A. Laird will supervise this work. It was determined that flocks must pass the test free of disease for two consecutive years before being placed on an accredited list. Accredited veterinarians will take blood samples and tests will be made by the University of Illinois.

The meeting directed D. E. Hale of Chicago, to appoint a committee composed of representatives of breeders, hatchery owners, University of Illinois, Illinois Agriculture Association, state Department of Agriculture and the Illinois Poultry Breeders' association to promote and carry out the plan. Representatives of these associations were present at the meeting.

At the close of the general meeting hatchery owners formed a state association and voted to affiliate with the International Baby Chick association. D. E. Hale of Chicago, was elected president, L. E. Dalenbaugh, of Bondville, vice president, and Miss Dorothy Halney of Butler, secretary-treasurer.

RECKLESS DRIVERS BANE OF RAILROADS

Crossing Accidents Increasing 100 Per Cent Per Year—Public Disregards Own Personal Safety.

TOPEKA, Kan. — (By the A. P.)—Railway crossing accidents, increasing at an average rate of 100 per cent a year, represent one of the most serious problems now confronting American railroads, according to Isaiah Hale of Topeka, chairman of the safety section of the American railway Association which comprises in the United States. A "Careful Crossing Campaign" of four months, June to September, has just been completed by all the railroads.

"Railroads are eagerly trying out every imaginable means of averting these appalling disasters," said Mr. Hale, "but the persistent disregard of the automobile driving public for its own safety has caused some of us almost to despair. The remedy seems so simple, yet meets such open violation. Epitomized, it is just three weeks, Cross Crossing Cautiously.

Safety First Plans.
"The railroad are convinced that with a first education gets results. Deaths of employees on duty have been reduced from 4,354 in 1917 to 1,446 in 1921. This result has been achieved notwithstanding the much larger force of employees during the year 1921.

"In 30 years our country's population has increased 63 per cent. In that same period railway highway crossing accidents have increased 343 per cent, and injury cases 652 per cent. These disproportionate increases are due entirely to the use of the automobile. In five years 9,101 persons were killed and 24,208 injured at railway highway crossings in the United States.

Fifty Per Cent Carelessness.
The fact that at least 50 per cent of automobile drivers do not look both ways upon approaching a railroad crossing has been demonstrated in a number of tests conducted along the Santa Fe Railroad recently. Mr. Hale pointed out. A count made at a city crossing produced the following results: Out of 250 cars checked, drivers of 98 did not look in either direction; 49 looked to the right only; 17 looked to the left only; one stopped and looked in both directions, and 78 looked both ways without stopping.

In instances of automobiles being driven upon a passing train are almost as common as those in which the automobile is struck by a train, Mr. Hale declared. A typical list compiled by the Pennsylvania railroad shows an increase of 119 per cent in crossing fatalities in July this year as compared with July a year ago.

OBSTACLES SEEN TO PUMPING COAL

Deficient Water Supply and High Cost of Iron Pipe Make Project Impractical.

Springfield. —Pumping wet coal through pipe lines from southern Illinois coal fields to St. Louis, proposed recently by an Illinois coal dealer, faces two almost fatal obstacles, according to Robert M. Medill, state director of mines and minerals. Deficient water supply at the mines and high cost of pipe would make the project impractical, Mr. Medill believes.

Some of the mines have hardly enough water for their boilers," said Mr. Medill. "And when it comes to the price of iron pipe, of which the line probably would be constructed, the cost would be almost prohibitive. The cost of pipe alone would run into millions, not including land leases.

"If the percentage of coal companies in that section of Illinois, which would use the pipe line, was large enough, the line might be worth considering. But the coal companies could hardly come to an agreement on the use of the line."

In connection with the coal situation in Illinois, Mr. Medill said that because of an overproduction of coal, caused by too many mines operating, many mines are closing down.

"Never before in the history of this state has coal production been so low in the months of August and September as it is this year," Mr. Medill said. "Over 50 percent of the mines in the state are idle at present. Many of the coal companies in the country were on the brink of bankruptcy before the war. War contracts revived them and brought many new operators into the field. These operators are operating only as an aftermath of war and could not normally exist. When many mines should be opening up, especially at this time of the year, we find the reverse situation prevalent."

HAVANA "Y" WORKERS OFFER FRIENDLY AID

HAVANA. (A. P.)—The Merchant Marine Y. M. C. A. is here primarily to deal with American sailors, make their days better and help them when they are in need, but from time to time the organization finds opportunity to leave its regular field and do good in broader pastures. Ernest Bratzel, the secretary, and his wife always welcome such chances.

Recently Mr. Bratzel inaugurated in the Vivac, the great jail of Havana, Protestant religious services in English for the benefit of the 40 or 50 delinquent Americans and Englishmen behind the bars of the ancient building. Not long ago two young boys came to Havana from Maryland, put up at an expensive hotel, and began looking for jobs. Their small savings melted away in a few days, and while the American consul was seeking a chance for them to work their way home on a ship, Mr. and Mrs. Bratzel were keeping the lads out of mischief and in food. Another undertaking was the return home of an American drug addict whose papers showed he had held an army commission during the world war, and on the same ship with this man went a negro woman, stranded in Havana, whose son in New Orleans had been located by the secretary of the "M. M. Y."

Miss Freda Hale has returned from a visit with friends at White Hall.

CAPITALIZING NAMES

Paris (United Press).—Hotel men, cafe and restaurant proprietors in Paris, trying to appeal to the Anglo-Saxon trade, usually give themselves a name such as "Henry's," or "Charley's," or what not. But that little possessive apostrophe gets them sometimes. Thus we have a very celebrated place in Montmartre boasting the Franco-Anglo-Saxon-Italian name of "Au Zelli's," which means nothing in any known language. But the climax came the other day when somebody opened a cafe near the Gare de l'Est and named it "Al-sace's."

Madam Baschi appeared in leading roles in many of the big operas of Continental Europe. She is the possessor of a very remarkable contralto voice of great beauty and clarity. It is an exceptional, warm-timbred voice of extensive range, and it does justice to the masters under whom it was developed—Jean de Reszke, Paris; Lilli Lehmann, Berlin; and Galli-heri, Milan. She has appeared in Stockholm, Antwerp, Copenhagen, Amsterdam, Berne, Basel, Vienna and Budapest, and in each of these operatic and concert centers discriminating critics have passed favorable judgment upon her work.

YANKS ARE MISSED BY MOSCOW GIRLS

Since Return of Relief Association Men Americans Arriving are Immediately Resigned for Dances.

MOSCOW, (AP)—A score or so of charming Moscow girls, taught to one-step and fox-trot by the men of the American Relief Administration during their stay in Russia, are waiting with longing hearts and itching toes for someone to come back and dance real U. S. A. with them again.

The A. R. A. personnel houses frequently gave dances, and the Russian girl employees learned to like jazz better than their own waltzes, one-steps and fox-trots. There are one or two cafes in Moscow where a sort of syncratic is played nightly, but the dancing by the public does not begin until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning. These places, too, are expensive and beyond the purses of the former A. R. A. girls, many of whom are now without jobs.

Aided by phonographs and American dance records, some of these sad young women have been trying to teach Russian men to dance in the American manner, but the girls say they put too much heel clicking and leaping about into the measures, and try to turn a fox trot into a ballet.

The girls are frankly miserable about it, and whenever a stray American who can dance turns up in Moscow, he can be surrounded by willing dancing partners as long as he is able to keep going.

Every time a girl gets a letter in English from some former A. R. A. man, she takes it around to all her acquaintances and they sigh, turn on the phonograph, and think of old times.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hall and family of 531 Kosciuszko Street expect to spend Sunday with Mrs. Hall's sister Miss Alta Epling at Waverly. Carl Epling of St. Louis, a nephew of Miss Epling and Mrs. Hall will also be a guest at the Epling home.

WAFFLES

Who doesn't like waffles? Nobody!

For breakfast, Sunday night lunch or tea waffles will "go like hot cakes" and the maker will be happy in her popularity.

The batter for waffles is much the same as that for hot cakes. More eggs are used if a rich, light waffle is desired, but one egg can be beaten in such a way that a delicious puffy waffle is the result.

Sweet or sour milk is used.

Sour Milk Waffles
One egg, 2 cups sour milk, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Mix and sift flour, soda and salt. Add yolk of egg well beaten. Work perfectly smooth and beat in melted butter. Add milk and beat with a slotted spoon or a strong Dover beater. Beat white of egg until stiff and dry. Add baking powder to beaten white. Fold into first mixture. Put one tablespoon of the batter in each section of the iron and cover. The iron should be hot enough to turn almost as soon as covered. If an electric iron is used add another tablespoon of melted butter to the rule.

Fill the socket of an ordinary waffle iron with salt and there will be no burning fat while baking the waffles.

Sweet Milk Waffles
Two eggs, 2 cups flour, 2-1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add yolks of eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Mix thoroughly and beat in melted butter. Add milk and beat well. Fold in whites of eggs beaten stiff and dry. Bake as in preceding recipe.

The secret of tender, crisp waffles lies in the baking rather than in the number of eggs used. The iron should be well heated on both sides and well greased before filling. The heat should be even and evenly distributed. A round iron fits over the flame of a gas range better than a square one.

Some old waffle recipes use as many as seven or eight eggs. This is quite out of the question these days and also unnecessary. Buttermilk was also considered imperative, but sweet milk waffles can be made just as good.

The recipes given are calculated to serve four persons.

He is survived by a brother, Joseph Ford of Lowder, a sister, Mrs. Ida Kessler of Springfield, a half brother Walter Ford, of Kansas City and a half sister, Mrs. Ada Lackey of Nebraska. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Prospect church, of which deceased was a member for many years. Rev. C. W. Andrew, pastor of the M. E. church, had charge of the services. Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Mrs. W. A. Barrow, Mrs. Mrs. J. H. Shutt, W. R. Turnbull and O. H. Scribner. Interment was in East cemetery at Waverly.

CORRECT SIGNPOSTS SOUGHT BY A. A. A.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—An official "milestone" for every city and town in the United States is suggested by the American Automobile Association, to avoid the confusion arising from the present habit of taking measurements from any one of several points in a city, which themselves may be a mile or even several miles apart.

"Every motorist will recall, at some time in his travels, having seen a sign reading 'eight miles to Jonesville,' and then, a couple of miles further on passing another sign saying again that Jonesville is still eight miles away. Both signs may be correct, depending on the point in Jonesville from which the mileage was taken.

"From a commercial standpoint an official milestone would be of service in giving readers of advertisements of real estate, for example, definite information. A farm may be advertised as being six miles distant from Jonesville. With the adoption of an official milestone by Jonesville, the reader would know that the distance is six miles from a fixed point in Jonesville, which would be in the heart of the city.

"The cost of putting up the official milestone can be negligible. A simple marker could serve the purpose. Automobile clubs in many instances will be willing to erect the marker or milestone for the city or town."

WARLIKE TRIBES NOW TRADE WITH SETTLERS

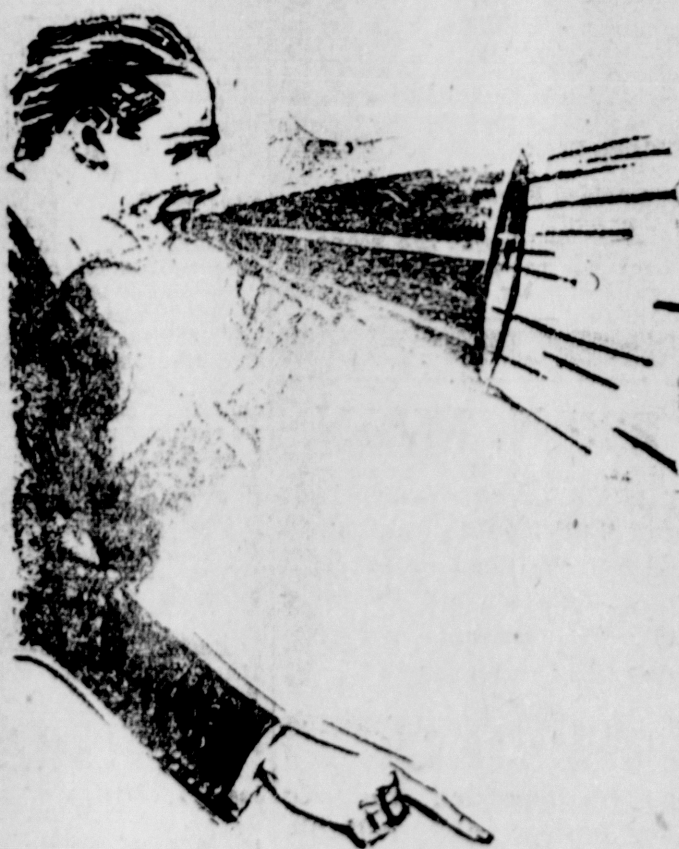

MANILA, (AP)—The Ifugaos, one of the most warlike peoples of the mountain provinces, are becoming more friendly to the lowland settlers in that province, and have started trading with them, it is reported here.

Deputy Governor Dossor, who has been working for months toward establishing peace between the mountain people and the lowland settlers, succeeded in getting more than 150 Ifugaos to take rice, vegetables and baskets to Dulog, a town on the boundary between Ifugaos and the province of Isabela. These were exchanged with the lowlands for pigs and chickens. As a result of this venture several markets have been established and trading between the erstwhile warlike peoples is becoming the order of the day.

UGGEST EIGHT RULES FOR CITIZENSHIP CLUBS

Federation of Women's Clubs Backs Movement for Informing Women on Dates of Citizenship

In the November issue of the general Federation News put out by the Press and Publicity Department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in its November issue gives eight rules or the making of citizenship of club women practical as compiled by Mrs. Alice Adams Fulton, chairman of the American Citizenship in the Colorado Federation of Women's Clubs, and of the state committee for cooperation with ex-service men.

Rule No. 2 is especially applicable to the women of Jacksonville and Morgan county at the present time. It is "Exercise Your Rights of Citizenship on Election Day."

The others are as follows:
2. Cooperate with your legally constituted officers.
3. As a constituted voter, do something to urge Congress to take care of mentally afflicted ex-soldiers, so that they may be rehabilitated and restored to usefulness.
4. Be active in politics. Smash to smithereens a taboo of many clubs relating to the discussion of politics, remembering that when we lay aside all day sucker and get into action we will have no trouble in achieving legislation—such as a child labor amendment to the constitution.
5. See that more women are candidates for elective offices of all kind, making sure first that they are qualified. Insist upon appointive places being filled by women as well as men.

6. Attend sessions of your county court. It is here that "family relations" of juvenile delinquency and dependency are brought to light. The law provides that at least three members of these county boards be women. If we would insist upon this, we could have 189 club women as officers, cooperating with authority instead of volunteers.
7. Attend trials of criminal cases in your district court. Find out about the families of the accused and convicted, whether conviction leaves families objects of charity of public charge, of how they are provided for. Put yourself as a woman, just for once, in the place of the wife, mother or daughter of the accused, to better try to comprehend the facts. Find out if justice is equally dispensed.
8. The last and most important admonition is that we make our citizenship practical by informing ourselves, and then set about forming public opinion, that its power may be placed back of the good and against the bad, for the most potent factor in America today is the moulding of public opinion by the trained and well-informed club woman who is a citizen.

IT ISN'T WORTH A CENT

Ten million marks in Germany today! Yet it isn't worth one lone copper of Uncle Sam's currency. In Germany, however, it buys a loaf of bread, five cigarettes or a box of matches. With the fall of the mark, the government is even cutting down the size of the paper it's printed on.

CRIMINAL FANATICS ABROAD IN BENGAL

Lord Lytton, Viceroy, Anxiety—Organized Bands Adopt Terrorism Thru Robbery and Assassination.

CALCUTTA, (AP)—In prolonging the Bengal Legislative Council, Lord Lytton, the Governor, voiced a note of anxiety and warning regarding the recent recrudescence of violent crime in Calcutta and other parts of the province. These outbreaks are attributed to the work of secret revolutionary societies, having as one of their aims the assassination of government officials.

"The crimes of violence which have in the last few months deeply shocked the public of Calcutta have been generally assumed to have been the acts of ordinary criminals. The latest murder in the post office at Sankar-tolla and the trial and conviction of one of the gang who committed the murder has revealed to the public the workings of organized revolutionary societies of which Bengal has had such an unhappy experience in the past. The revival of a menace, which many will remember as a hideous nightmare, and which everyone had hoped had gone forever, has created a situation in which the government will require, to an exceptional degree, the support of the public.

Fanatical Idealists
"The contaminating influence of these gangs of fanatical idealists, who adopt terrorism thru robbery and assassination as their weapon, is a danger to the younger generation from which no family can feel altogether immune.

"A week ago the latest victim of this sinister conspiracy told in the dock the story of how he was sought out by those whom he acknowledged as his leaders and ordered to join with others in a robbery which led to the murder of a perfectly innocent man. It is the impressionable youth of Bengal who are seduced and sacrificed by this insane organization. I appeal to all those who remember the dark days through which Bengal passed from 1912 to 1916, to all those who have sons of their own to protect, to rally to help up stamp out this disease before it grows to dimensions.

sions which will make it difficult to cope with.
"This is no case of mere political opposition of criticism of the government, or seditious propaganda. It is a conspiracy of dangerous, fanatical criminals among whom violence is an acknowledged creed and terrorism a deliberate policy, whose agents are trained in robbery and murder, whose victims are selected without motive or discrimination, and who constitute a danger to every household in the country. I have every confidence that when this is realized the whole educated opinion of Bengal will demand that vigorous and effective measures shall be taken to exterminate the evil."

SWEDEN WILL SEND ORE TO RUHR SOON

Since Was Has Been Sending Product to Other Countries—
Swedish Machine Shops Active.

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—Sweden's industries will be affected both favorably and unfavorably by the settlement of the Ruhr conflict, according to the third quarterly statement for 1923 which has just been issued by the Royal Board of Trade. It is pointed out that in normal times the Ruhr district took about two-thirds of the total export of Swedish iron ore. This market was closed by the French occupation, and the Swedish ore producers have been diverting their shipments to America and elsewhere, while large stocks have also been accumulating in home ports. In the near future Germany will doubtless again become a large importer of Swedish ore.

On the other hand, Swedish machine shops, especially those manufacturing mining machinery, paper-making machinery, and motors, have been prospering because the previously severe competition from Germany ceased with the occupation of the Ruhr. Renewed competitive offerings from Central Europe will force the prices on Swedish machinery down to the minimum margin of profit, and the hopes of being able to continue considerable exports lie in the high quality of native materials used and the excellence of workmanship.

BURBANK METHOD IS APPLIED TO MELON

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—The boll weevil foe of the cotton raiser and considered one of the biggest pests of the cotton districts, is responsible for a variety of watermelon which promises to make the dreams of the most ardent melon egiure come true.
Watermelons weighing more than 100 pounds may be common on the market in a few years. One tipping the scales at 123 pounds was raised this year by John P. Carter of Garza, Denton county.

He says the boll weevil refused to let him raise cotton and he turned to watermelons. In 1916 he effected a cross of three well known varieties—the Triumph, the Mountain Sweet, and the Tom Watson. Size came from the Triumph, flavor and thin rind from the Mountain Sweet, and firmness of texture, toughness of rind, and also flavor from the Tom Watson. It was not until 1919, however, that Carter began to realize what he had succeeded in doing. That year his largest melon weighed 78 pounds; in 1920 the prize of the patch tipped the scales at 87 pounds. He then began a selection of seed for size and in 1921 obtained a melon 93 pounds and an entire crop average of more than 50 pounds each. It was last year that he topped the 100 pound mark, with a melon weighing 102.
From one acre in 1922 Carter realized more than $300. From four and a half acres this year Carter marketed about 1,300 worth of melons, all at wholesale.

BOOKS FOR CHILDREN

What was your favorite book on your tenth birthday? Was it Robinson Crusoe, Gamm's Fairy Tales or one of Cooper's? In the children's department of our own public library, these tastes remain unchanged; the ten year old boy and girl are calling for these same books you loved.

Due to neglect, necessitated because of lack of funds, our children's room needs a great deal of attention. Now we have a special librarian for this work, Miss Doulon, who is striving in every way to make it the most attractive spot. It is your duty and should be your pleasure to cooperate. Many of the books are in a deplorable condition, not through deliberate abuse, but hard usage. Children are harder on books than adults, and if they find them popular they are continually passing from one set of hands unto another, from one home to another. At present it is an impossibility to fill the book lists that go into our schools.

During your house cleaning, perhaps you discovered some books your children have outgrown, and these are the very ones the library needs for duplication or replacing those that must be discarded. Such books as these would be most acceptable.

Children's Books Needed
Dix—Merryhills.
DeFoe—Robinson Crusoe.
Lofting—Dr. Dolittle.
Stevenson—Treasure Island.
Stevenson—Kidnapped.
Alcott—Little Men.
Alcott—Little Women.
Rolt Wheeler—Boy with the U. S. Inventors.
Kipling—Just so stories.
Kipling—Jungle Book.
November 11-14 is Children's Book week, and for that week, Miss Doulon is very anxious to display these books that overgrown your shelves and are so badly needed here. If you will call the Library 106-W, Miss Williams and Miss Doulon will be glad to investigate and see what may be of service.

DRY ANNIVERSARY

Editor Journal:—
Ten years ago today, Nov. 4th 1913 the women of Jacksonville put the city on the map of the United States, by polling a vote of 3400 out of 4,000 voters in a decisive action to keep Jacksonville dry. Let us celebrate that victory by going to the polls Tuesday next and voting to keep the county dry, by re-electing J. E. Osborne as county commissioner.

For the past year or so our board of county commissioners has been entirely a dry one, and it would be a great step backward to fail to re-elect Mr. Osborne. He has worked hard and to good effect. The indebtedness has been greatly decreased and the commissioners have stood behind the state's attorney in his efforts to prosecute the bootleggers and wet criminals. Let us vote early and all together—dry—Nov. 6 1923.

Before he was struck, Meyers heard one of the men say to him, "You keep out of this or we'll fix you." He believes the strangers were seeking to make away with some fowls, as the Strawn farm has been visited by chicken thieves several times in recent years.

LYMAN S. KENT TO BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral of Long Time Local Resident Will Be Held In Moline.

Lyman S. Kent, formerly a resident of Jacksonville, will be buried today at Moline, where he has been resident for a number of years. A message telling of Mr. Kent's death on Friday was received here by his brother, A. B. Kent, who has for years been in the Jacksonville post office.

Mr. Kent was born in Rock Island, Jan. 21, 1868, but most of his life was spent here in Jacksonville, where his parents, Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Kent, were resident for many years.

After graduating from the Jacksonville High school Lyman Kent entered business. His first experience was as a salesman and he subsequently became senior member of the L. S. Kent-McCarthy Co. This firm for years carried on an extensive and successful business in the manufacture of cigars.

After retiring from that business and leaving Jacksonville Mr. Kent took up insurance work. He was a man of more than usual business ability and had the good opinion of those who knew him best.

He is survived by his wife, his mother, Mrs. Sophronia Kent, two sisters, Misses Sophronia and Abbie Kent, and four brothers, A. B. Kent, of this city; Walter Kent, William and Edward Kent.

INTERESTING TAX FIGURES

Editor Journal:—

How much does the sanitarium cost me? We own a home in the west end worth between $5,000 and $6,000. The assessed valuation is $1,750 and we pay a county tax of $13.13 out of a total of $123.08. The whole county tax is $140,877 and the sanitarium cost the past year a net of $8363.06 or one-fifteenth of the total tax expended. This would cost us 78 cents for the sanitarium or if there had been no income from it, and the entire $25,487 had been expended on the sanitarium it would have cost us the enormous sum of $2.36 a year.

Thing of it, only $2.36 for me to help a sick person to splendid care and perhaps future health. Perhaps to save my own or my neighbor's children from contagion. We think little of spending $2 or $3 on a theater ticket, or for gas to drive to Springfield or St. Louis. Why should we grouch about so little a cost for so great a good?

The continual objections and complaint about taxes, comes from a wrong view-point. If we could escape without paying taxes. But how small a sum is $123.81 a year to pay for the privilege of being an owner of a home and living in the finest town in the grandest state, in the most glorious country on earth!

COURT OF CLAIMS WILL HEAR CASES WORTH BILLIONS

Suits of All Descriptions are Filed With Government Stipulating Losses—Contracts Cancelled at Close of World War Cause Numerous Requests for Heavy Damages

WASHINGTON.—(A.P.)—The Court of Claims has reconvened with a calendar of cases for the winter term which, in the aggregate amount claimed and the novelty and importance of the issues involved, exceeds all litigation ever before pending against the government at any one time. The amount involved in the cases now pending is approximately $2,500,000,000, mostly arising out of the world war.

Claims filed against all departments of the government, among which are a large number that never have reached the Court, include the following: The War Department, in which claimants have filed claims involving approximately $5,000,000,000; the Bureau of Internal Revenue, which has before it claims for rebates and refunds aggregating many millions; the Shipping Board where the amount of cancellations alone amounted to over $850,000,000; claims for patent infringement estimated by the Department of Justice at $300,000,000; claims made by the railroads which as filed by the Railroad Administration amount to approximately $2,250,000,000; claims is constructed, and if successful he may recover $10,000,000. The sum of $995,000 is asked for infringement in the manufacture of torpedoes, and about $30,000,000 for radio apparatus.

One test case is brought by a savings bank to determine the liability of the government for stolen government bonds and coupons, and if successful will result in other suits which, it is estimated will swell the government's liability to $150,000,000.

Claims are made for injuries to person and property by mail trucks, and reimbursement is claimed by farmers for destruction of lands and crops by alighting mail planes. Owners of intoxicating liquors whose supplies have been confiscated by prohibition enforcement agents seek indemnity in money damages.

In preparation for the disposition of such a tremendous accession of new business the Court of Claims has so cleared its dockets that not only pending suits, but actions based upon these war claims, are receiving immediate attention. All cases are disposed of as rapidly as they are prepared and presented by counsel.

VETERANS MUST TAKE BONDS THEY ORDERED

Where They Have Been Requested by Former Service Men in Preference to Cash in Settlement of Bonus Orders Must be Filled.

SPRINGFIELD.—(By the A. P.) Former service men applying for the Illinois soldiers' bonus, who requested bonds instead of cash payment of their claims, must take bonds and cannot re-change their request, according to Palmer D. Edmunds, chief clerk of the Service Recognition Board here. Thus far, according to Mr. Edmunds, 614 applicants have either originally applied for bonds or have changed their request after applying for money payment.

"Although the percentage of those requesting bonds is small," Mr. Edmunds said, "their request cannot be rechanged now. Many of this class of applicants requested bonds thinking that, due to the lack of money to pay cash claims, the bonds would be granted them immediately."

Over 103,000 claims have thus far been approved by the board and by the time the $15,000,000 is available, which will probably be about the first of November, several thousand more claims will have been approved.

Several hundred claims have been refused. The percentage is very small, Mr. Edmunds said.

Refuses no Claim.

"The board," he added, "has refused no claim until a thorough investigation has satisfied us that the applicant has no right whatever to an Illinois bonus. In one case we found that a former service man, who had filed a claim, had already been paid the Missouri bonus. Where there is a question as to whether an applicant has received a bonus from another state we notify that state immediately."

Since the last bonus appropriation of $10,000,000 was exhausted the board discontinued the practice of notifying applicants of the disposition of their claims. Now that the new appropriation is available the practice will be resumed and the following letter will be sent to all applicants whose claims are approved:

"You are advised that the Service Recognition Board has allowed your claim for bonus and this day transmitted a voucher to the State Auditor authorizing him to draw a warrant in your favor for the approved amount."

"The enclosed statement is an expression of the deep satisfaction felt by the people of the state of Illinois in being able to render this compensation."

According to Mr. Edmunds, "this letter caused claimants much concern and our office for a time was flooded with letters asking why the 'warrant' had not been forwarded them. We discontinued sending it. However, now that more bonds are sold, we will notify all whose claims are approved. Rejected claims will also be taken care of in a similar manner."

The board, according to Mr. Edmunds, is now sending 1,000 approved claims a day to the state auditor's office. The latter office, in turn, is writing the vouchers for payment of these claims.

Approximately 257,645 claims are now on file on 154,645 claims remained to be acted upon, 103,000 claims having already been disposed of.

All checking and investigating of claims is done entirely by correspondence, Mr. Edmunds said. No employee of the board has ever gone outside of the office to check on a claim.

BERLIN. (A.P.)—A Berlin shoe maker recently sued a prominent German actress for libel and won a decision. The actress was required to pay the costs of the case. When the judge asked the shoemaker the amount of his lawyer's fee, the cobbler replied he had promised the attorney a new pair of half-soles. The court required the actress to pay the cost of mending the lawyer's shoes.

TELEPHONE TALKS

To get the best out of telephone service there must be co-operation among subscribers, as well as between the Company and subscribers.

The person calling should:

Be ready when the person called answers.
Speak in a well-modulated tone—not too loud.
Speak distinctly, with the lips close to but not touching the mouthpiece.

The person called should answer promptly. Both should avoid long telephone conversations, which result in busy signals to other subscribers who may want to get one or both of these telephones.

The following sonnets are echoes from the news columns of a week ago, in which we learned that the elm in Cambridge, under which Washington took command of the Continental army, fell, in spite of efforts to save it; and also that the timbers of some ancient vessel were removed from an excavation in what was formerly a part of the harbor at Los Angeles.

THE BURIED SHIP

What chapter of unwritten history
Does it reveal, strange hulk that Admiral Time
Docked in the western harbor's depth of slime,
Its name and mission tragic mystery?
Forever sealed its log, its courses furled,
The relic stirs our wonder and unrest;
The elements have done their ugly best
To blot it from the annals of the world.

The past low-lit, the future in a cloud,
We helm our ship, Adventure, to the wave,
Far hope ahead, regret and awe behind.
Why, why does Fate stand ready with a grave
To greet Romance—with soil or water shroud
The elements so busy and so blind?

THE CAMBRIDGE ELM

Brave trunk, that out-lived public friend and foe,
Beneath whose branches General Washington Took charge of and invoked God's blessing on Our patriots of years and years ago;
Since then have spread your branches o'er the land
Your roots thru soils to every hearth devout,
And when you fell, the crash was heard thruout
The Nation, broadened now from strand to strand.

We are not free, Great Elm, else from the vaults
Of alien enemies—Oppression's line
Stalks 'mid the Continentals yet, and flaunts
Their regimentals, waves their bright ensign.
Beneath what grand tree now, what other elm,
Shall Freedom's sons convene to save their realm?

The Worlds Greatest Range

All of This Week, November 5th to 10th, Inclusive

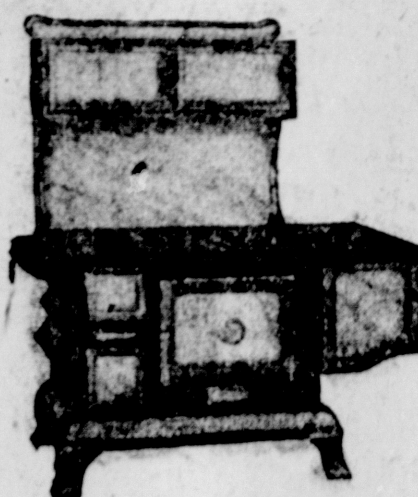

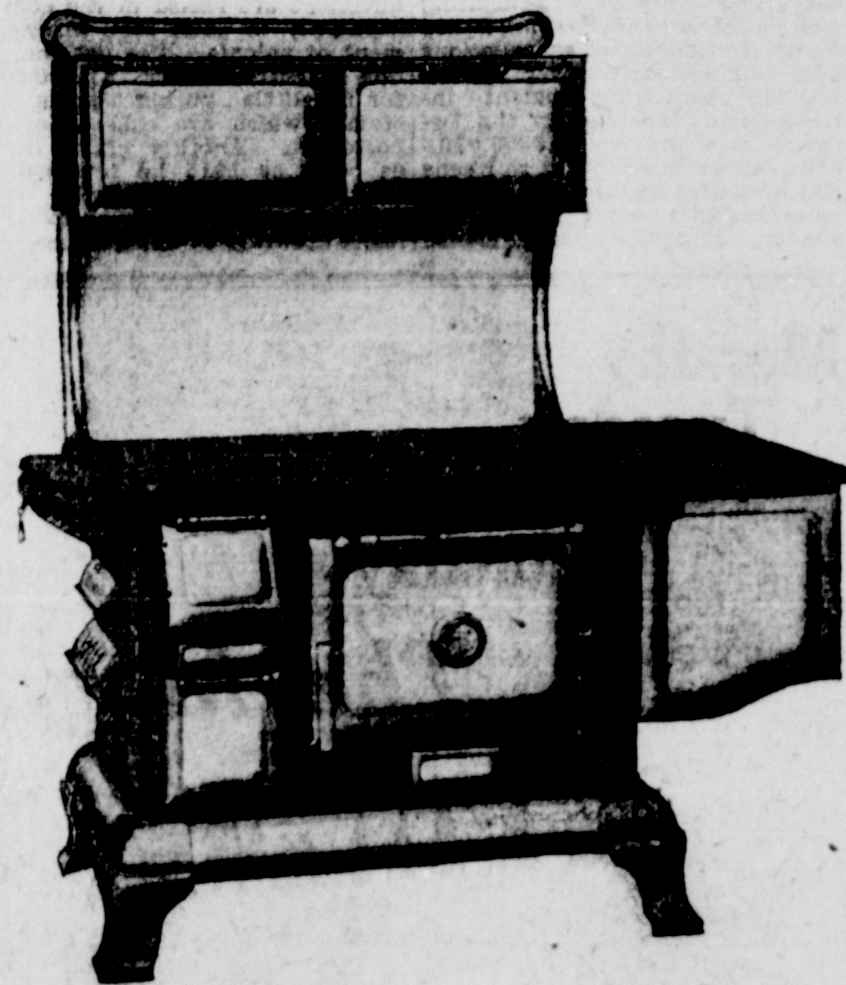

A Story of Beauty and Durability

All Copper Clad Ranges are lined with pure copper, where other Ranges rust out. This great feature is controlled exclusively by the manufacturers of Copper Clad Ranges.

By the use of unbreakable Malleable Iron, all parts of the Copper Clad Range are riveted securely. Therefore effecting airtight joints such as cannot be accomplished in cast iron construction.

A Back Flue made of ordinary sheet steel or sheet iron will rust out—a back flue made of cast iron will crack and break. The Copper Clad Drop Forged Back Flue can neither crack, break nor rust out. The Copper Clad is the only Range in the world having a drop forged back flue.

All nickel plated parts devoid of rivet heads—perfectly smooth—adding beauty and sanitation.

THE body and flues of Copper Clad Ranges are not subjected to contact with rust producing damp (sweaty) asbestos, as is the case in all other ranges. The copper lining placed between the asbestos and the heavy Allegheny Iron outside walls prevents all possible risk of rusting out of the body of the range.

MASQUERADE PARTY GIVEN AT BLUFFS

Enjoyable Halloween Party at M. E. Church. Attended by Many—Other Bluffs News.

Bluffs, Nov. 1.—The Halloween party at the M. E. church Wednesday night was a drawing card for the young people who attended in large numbers. Many were so cleverly masked that their identity remained a mystery throughout the entire evening. A pleasing program was rendered and light refreshments in keeping with the affair were served at a late hour. Proceeds were $20. Little mischief was done by the roughneck element who prowled until midnight upsetting odd bits of furniture, farm implements etc. A young farmer walked into town leaving his buggy at home for safe keeping but the boys thought it too bad for him to walk so far so they went and brought the buggy to town but neglected to bring the horse. The young man recognized his vehicle but treated the matter as a joke. Mrs. H. M. Stephens left Tuesday for a few days visit to relatives in Decatur. Mrs. Anna Arundel left Wednesday for a week's visit with relatives in Champaign. Mrs. Fred McMurray and grandson Glenn McMurray spent Tuesday with friends in Hannibal Mo.

Books and Authors

The covering of a book like the title of a motion picture film usually tells the reader nothing as to the real theme of the story within. Unwieldy literature no longer wears a distinctive "yellow back," and paper binding does not necessarily mean that a book is of the "dime novel" type. In these days of attractive illustrated covers a book is used as an aid to its sale. Even the title may give no hint of the actual contents, as that, too, is designed to give the work an extra selling point.

In other words the prospective reader is left unprotected, unless he makes a little investigation of the "insides" of the book he wants to buy. Many a suggestive story or novel which would cast an influence for evil shrouds its real self behind a gaudy and colorful binding. Those who purchase new music do not think of taking a record or a piece of sheet music before they have heard it played. Of course, to read a book through before making it a part of one's library, would be out of the question. It would be a tax on the book dealer's courtesy and patience. But one might read a page or two here and there.

However, the best way to get accurate information concerning a book is to ask someone who has read it. If he likes it find out why, and if not, he must surely have some reason that would be a guide to someone else. Investigate a book before you read it and allow it to become a part of your character, and you will guard against many things which might warp your life.

Androcles and the Lion, A Comedy Drama.

George Bernard Shaw. This article is not intended to be a criticism of drama or of structure, but of the matter contained in the play. There is no intention of passing upon the work of the Coffey-Miller Players who recently gave such a creditable performance of the play in this city.

In the first place, Shaw has selected material for his play which was never meant to be comic. The traditional experience of Androcles and the lion has been regarded as something which was saved from a tragic ending only by the hero's kindness to animals. The persecution of the Christians in the Roman arena was fraught with the deepest tragedy. Even in the play itself, the most pitiful of tragedies is depicted as taking place behind the scenes. With these facts in mind, one naturally wants to know what could be Shaw's purpose in weaving a comedy from such a serious theme.

Does the author mean by this play to bring contempt upon Christianity? This was the question which puzzled the writer throughout the performance, and at the conclusion it was difficult to see whether such charge against Shaw could be justified. The only thing that saves Androcles from the role of a cringing coward is his irrepressible good humor. Ferocious, at the last moment, although he has won a victory in the arena, deserts to the gods of war. The terrible fate of the hypocritical Spinto casts a gloom over the whole play, though no one can doubt that he got exactly what he deserved.

The one red-empting feature of the play, the thing that saves it from the charge of being a satire on Christianity, is the triumph of Lavinia. Throughout the play she runs true to form, and comes to the end with even a deeper spiritual conviction than at the beginning. The materialistic and faithless philosophy of the Captain is relieved by his admiration of the girl's courage in being willing to "die for God." Lavinia came thru the ordeal with something more than a belief in "stories and dreams." She is not deluded by Spinto's belief that "martyrs go to Heaven, no matter what they've done." From these facts, we are forced to conclude that Shaw has no quarrel with real Christianity, but that he hates sham. He has no use for the stories and dreams, to which some people pin their faith. He would sweep all these aside and bring us to a faith in the great fundamental idea of God, which, in the last analysis, is the only vital principle of life. Even the brute courage of Ferocious and his zeal for making people do right will not come whole from the crucible into which Shaw casts the elements displayed by the various characters.

Androcles presents something of a puzzle. The motives which actuate him are not those which actuate the other Christians. He wouldn't mind sacrificing to the gods if the matter could be kept quiet, an attitude which shows him to be human. Many people do not object to a little private sin, provided it can be kept from public notice. At the mention of the whip, which is the symbol of cruelty, Androcles wants to fight. The animals he tames must not be in cages. In fact, he is deeply imbued with that philosophy which regards all living things as "little brothers" of humanity. Shaw meant Androcles to be comic, and nothing more. His familiarity with Caesar is that of the jester with his master. He is human to a greater extent than any other character in the play. His love of animals gives him a strange appeal to an audience.

Perhaps some of the younger people in the audience found Androcles and the Lion a bit dull.

Your taxes would not be lowered one cent by voting down the Sanatorium but Morgan county would be lowered in health and in fame.

Perhaps they did not catch its significance, and if they didn't, perhaps it is just as well. The play is one which might be easily misinterpreted or misconstrued by the uninitiated.

The Mine With The Iron Door.

Harold Bell Wright. Practically every novel which this well known author has written has had back of it a worthy purpose, and the present book is no exception to the rule. The Mine With The Iron Door, used as the basis of its plot the familiar legend of the southwest which tells of a lost mine containing fabulous wealth. The story has it that the mine was worked centuries ago by the Spanish monks, who were too busy for their mission enterprises. For some reason the mine was abandoned and was lost to the white man. It is usually called the "Lost Mine of The Padres."

Other western story writers have referred to this legend of the lost mine, but no one has before centered a story around it, or at least not so completely as has Mr. Wright. Zane Gray has referred to the mine in "The Light of The Western Stars," but has used it only to obtain a descriptive effect.

"The Mine With The Iron Door" is the story of a young man who, as an innocent sufferer for the wrongs of others, has made his way as an escaped convict into the Canada del Oro, or Canyon of Gold. Here he meets the Girl, and learns to love her. Here he digs for the gold which will bring him freedom. Here also is the dominant figure in the story, Natachee the Indian. How the Indian, with his undying enmity to all white men, makes the hero suffer as a prisoner at his lonely cabin; how the strange mystery of the heroine's birth is ultimately solved, and the hero's innocence established by the confession of a dying man, all these things contribute a rather fascinating story. Were this all, the story would remain only a story, like so many of the novels of today which are written to sell and not to endure.

However, there is deeper meaning to the story of the Mine With The Iron Door. In "The Calling of Dan Matthews," Mr. Wright struck a blow at religious hypocrisy, and some self righteous people said that book should never have been written. In "The Eyes of the World," he hurled a missile at the social shame, filth and scandals of modern polite society. Now in "The Mine With The Iron Door," he has depicted in a striking way the evils that arise from a greed for gold. Natachee's repeated descriptions of what the white man has done to him and his race, and even to his brother white men, in his desire for gold, do more than get the reader's sympathy. They set him thinking. It is plain to be seen that "the love of money is the root of all evil."

Against Mr. Wright's indictment of the white race in its thirst for gold, there is no little defense. In earlier days we might have offered the Pilgrim Fathers as a bulwark against his darts; but now the east, where these Puritans walked and worshipped, is the seat of great wealth of vast corporations. The big mill towns of New England, where unsatisfactory working conditions result in strikes, the slavery in the coal fields of West Virginia, these things make us forget the Pilgrims.

Harold Bell Wright's aim at our chief weakness was, like that of Natachee, straight and true, and the justice of his unspoken condemnation will be acknowledged. But unfortunately, he has imitated his Indian hero too closely and left the arrow sticking in the heart of his victim. He proposes no remedy for our wrongs at the hands of those who thirst for gold.

He leaves the reader with despair in his heart on account of the conditions, but utterly helpless as he confronts them. But maybe the lack of a remedy for the evils is compensated somewhat by the fact that the Lost Mine still remains a mystery to the white man.

We are glad as we see the hero and heroine speed away from the Canyon of Gold to enjoy their honeymoon, leaving the lonely figure of Natachee dominating the scene and guarding the secret of the lost mine. We are glad Hugh Edwards did not learn that secret. We are glad the Mexican outlaw was thwarted in his search for the mine. We are glad the legendary wealth it contains will not be released to bring more evil to the human race.

Never a Body Built Like This Brougham—Baked Enamel Finish, Wood Frame

THIS new 5-passenger Jewett Brougham is a triumph of enclosed body construction. Never was such a body built before. And it's not to be had on any other car. An enclosed Jewett FOR BUT $1325!

Paige designers have done what was said to be impossible—combined a permanent baked enamel finish ALL OVER THE CAR on steel panels—with a wood frame. Wood, because wood absorbs vibration, eliminates "drumming" and reduces noise to nil.

Each steel body panel is dipped in enamel and baked three separate times, with a rub between each coat, then fastened to the wood frame. Baking is done separately because the intense heat required to bake enamel would warp wood.

Jewett Brougham has a smart, glossy, permanent finish ALL OVER THE CAR that you see on fenders ONLY of other cars. It stays good-looking—no attention needed other than washing. You'll marvel at this finish achieved by Paige engineers.

Cleverest seating arrangement for 5 adults you ever saw! Two individual front seats, both folding forward. Easy entrance and exit for all passengers on either side. Ample leg room front and rear. Rear seat 46½ inches wide, seats three. Rear cushion is removable, giving ample carrying space for merchandise, luggage or sample trunk.

And this new type Brougham is mounted on the famous, sturdy Jewett Six chassis. You know what that means—full 50 h. p. 6-cylinder motor, giving a closed car with open car performance. From 2 to 60 miles an hour in high; beats most any car's time up any hill; picks up from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds, in high.

In all our experience we've never seen a closed car of such character and merit for $1325 factory. Come in. Sit in it. Examine all its features. Drive it—today!

NO SHORTAGE OF LABOR IN WHITE HALL

Textile Business Not Suffering for Want of Adequate Labor Supply—Other White Hall Notes.

White Hall, Nov. 2.—Recently the rumor became circulated that the textile business in White Hall is suffering for want of adequate labor and the report got into print. The rumor has been firmly and effectually set at rest by the visit today of J. M. Brewer, of St. Louis, general manager of the Chester Knitting Mills, who states that the White Hall situation is entirely satisfactory to the company, recalling his statement at the time the proposition was first launched that it must be borne in mind that it takes time to organize and train sufficient help, and that there is no limit to the amount of girls his concern will use in the local mills. He advises girls to take up the work now and gain experience in the present quarters during the winter so as to be fitted for places in the new factory that will be constructed and equipped next summer, work on which is to begin early in the spring. George Billner, local superintendent, states that the output of the present plant has now reached 100 pairs daily, and that it is the plan to add two girls daily to the force in order that the increased working force may be assimilated to the best advantage. Mr. Brewer conferred with the chamber of commerce committee on future plans, and all concerned are enthusiastic over the prospects of this concern being to White Hall even more than has been anticipated. A settlement of the financial difficulties in the way of the construction of the subway under the C. and A. between White Hall and Roodhouse rejoicing over prospects of an early letting of the contract for the construction work. The term of settlement of the C. and A. subway is taken to mean to be applicable also to the construction of the Burlington subway. C. A. Ruckel, president of the chamber of commerce, and his committee on roads, headed by Guy Lowenstein, have been giving increasing attention to a solution of the subway problems, and these gentlemen see early action in the matter of contracting of the work by state department for both subways on the basis of the case of the C. and A. There is rapidly growing demand for the improved and permanent highway between White Hall and Roodhouse from a local standpoint as well as that of connecting up the highway between Jacksonville and Alton.

Favorable weather aided in bringing out a large attendance at the farm sale of Lee C. Vinyard, one mile southwest of the city limits, and it was also a success from the standpoint of sale prices. The top cow with calf brought $175, top horse, $127.50, hay $20 per ton, and fifty-five head of hogs averaged 7c. Mr. Vinyard has decided to give up farming to take a position as pharmacist with Judge and Delph in St. Louis, he being at one time in the drug business in White Hall. Among those in attendance was Congressman Henry T. Rainey. The ladies of the First Baptist church served lunch, which added fifty dollars to the exchequer of the Ladies' Guild.

Illinois College Notes

The Scotch poet, Jamie Heron, who is to be in the city the coming week, will speak to the students at the chapel exercises Wednesday morning at 9:45. Visitors will be welcome.

The Reverend H. H. Peters, who is to lead the special meetings at the Christian church, will speak at the chapel exercises the following Friday morning, November 9.

President Rammekamp will represent Illinois College at the inauguration of Ex-Governor Hadley, as president of Washington University, St. Louis on Saturday, November 10.

The address which the Reverend Harry B. Lewis, new pastor of Grace church, gave to the students of Illinois College last Friday morning on Edward Bok's autobiography was one of the most interesting chapel talks that have been given this fall, and was listened to with keen attention by the student body. Dr. Lewis spoke of those portions of Bok's book relating to Thrift, Thoroughness, and Respect for Law and Authority.

Invitations for the homecoming game on November 10 are being sent out to alumni and former students. The athletic management hopes that there will be an especially large turnout of Jacksonville alumni and former students. If these local alumni are interested in meeting their old friends and classmates of former years, they will probably have an opportunity to see some of them at the game. If an alumnus is willing to come a hundred miles to see the game, there ought certainly to be a large turnout of local alumni.

The "I" club will hold its banquet after the game Saturday evening. The dorm boys were invited over to the president's house for a feed—the boys of the south side on Tuesday night and the boys of north hall on Thursday night. Popcorn, cider doughnuts, and song, furnished the diversion for the evening.

Mrs. George W. Govert, wife of one of the trustees of Illinois College, will sail from New York about the middle of November on a tour around the world with a committee of the National Y. W. C. A. This committee of prominent women is making the trip as a tour of investigation. The members will visit especially points in China, India, and Japan in order to investigate and promote the work which the Y. W. C. A. organization is doing in these countries. Mrs. Govert is one of the prominent state workers in the cause of this organization.

Margaret D. Foster '18 had an article in the October number of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry on "Preliminary Examination of Water Samples." This article was written in collaboration with W. D. Collins of Washington, D. C.

The Y. W. C. A. banquet, or Feast of the Triangle, will be held this evening at Academy Hall. The girls are expecting to initiate a large group of freshman girls who have just joined Y. W. Mrs. Andrew K. Rule, wife of the Professor of Biblical Literature and Philosophy at the College, will preside as toastmistress.

Last Sunday, October 28, he was at an all day meeting at Darbin. Miss Nell Taylor of New Berlin one of the trustees of the College, was at the school Friday. Quite a number of the delegates to the Home Missionary meeting took advantage of the opportunity to visit the school and become acquainted with the work which is being done. Rev. E. K. Towle, one of the financial secretaries of the Wesley Foundation, was a business visitor in the college Friday. SOME NEW BOOKS

PUBLIC LIBRARY

These are a few of the new books which are being talked about and which you will want to read.

"Theodore Roosevelt," by Lord Charnwood.

No person can fail to be deeply interested and instructed as well, by Lord Charnwood's carefully considered and highly intelligent study of one of the most forceful and greatest men in American history.

"Damaged Souls," by Gamaliel Bradford.

Studies of what the author calls "a group of somewhat discredited figures" in which an attempt is made to bring out the elements of their strength and weakness. Some of the subjects are Benedict Arnold, Thomas Paine, Aaron Burr, and John Brown.

"The real Lincoln" by Jesse W. Weik.

The author brings out very fully the human side of Lincoln, the incidents of his domestic life and especially his activities as a lawyer.

"There's Pippins and Cheese to Come," by C. S. Brooks.

A collection of whimsical, clever essays with a leisurely atmosphere.

"The Lengthened Shadow," by W. J. Locke.

In Peter Moorhead the author creates a new type of Locke character—the super-villain. He is contrasted with Timothy Swayne, the unsophisticated, lame accountant, who was appointed co-guardian of Suzanne. Of course they both fall in love with their ward.

"The Pelham Mystery," by Louis Tracy.

A detective story which involves the capture of three spies in London.

"The Lady Into Fox," by David Garnett.

The simple straightforward manner of its telling makes surprisingly credible this fantastic story of an English country gentleman whose wife is changed into a fox.

"Bliss," by Katherine Mansfield.

"This group of short stories shows the qualities which have marked all of Miss Mansfield's work, simplicity, directness, sensitivity to impressions and the complete absorption of herself in her characters."

Illinois Downs Chicago In Homecoming Game

Grange Goes Over In Third Quarter For Touchdown

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 3.—(A. P.)—Illinois students and alumni paid a million and a half dollars to make possible their 7 to 0 victory over Chicago here today in the biggest homecoming game the Illinois have ever known. More than 60,000 people jammed into the mammoth new Memorial Stadium; saw Harold Grange, Zupke's phantom, pile driver crash across the Chicago line in the third quarter for the only touchdown of the game.

In spite of the cold, driving rain which drenched all spectators not seated under the upper decks of the stadium the game was a lively one for spectators and players alike.

Chicago made a good start in the first quarter and seemed to have found a vulnerable spot in the Illinois line and carried the ball to Illinois 6-yard line before Zupke's eleven rallied and took the ball on downs. From that point the game was fairly even with both teams opening momentary offenses which promised without delivering scores.

Harold Grange fulfilled the expectations of the alumni many of whom came miles to see him by intercepting a pass and tearing off a 42 yard run in the first quarter and adding a spectacular 30 yard run in the second quarter. The Chicago defense was unable to solve his twisting advance and he frequently shook off five men or more before being stopped. He also pierced the line several times for good gains and it was his slicing drive at center that won the game for Illinois.

It was after the teams had battled each other to a scoreless tie in the first half with most of the play in the center of the field that Illinois opened a real drive for the goal. In the third period taking the ball on their own 37-yard line Grange opened the drive with a three yard plunge at the line and McIlwain added five. Grange added five for first down and then worm-

ed his way thru the Chicago team for 2 yards around end and placed the ball on Chicago's 22-yard line. He added 15 on the next play around end and Illinois had seven yards to go for a touchdown. After McIlwain had added two more Grange took the ball straight thru the center of the line for the only touchdown. Britton's placement was perfect for the extra point.

Chicago cut loose a stock of passes in an attempt to win in the final quarter but after three has grounded in succession Illinois took the ball and the game ended shortly afterwards. Owing to the slippery field most of the play was straight football, very few passes being attempted.

The Lineup:

Chicago (0)	Pos.	Illinois (7)
Lampe	Left end	Rokusek
Strauss	Left tackle	Crawford
King	Center	Green
Rhorke	Right guard	Miller
Gowdy	Right tackle	R. Hall
Dickson	Right end	Richards
J. Thomas	Right halfback	McIlwain
Abbott	Quarterback	H. Hall
Zorn	Fullback	Britton

DON MILLER STARS IN NOTRE DAME WIN OVER PURDUE ELEVEN

Makes Two Touchdowns—Team Runs Up Score of 34 to 7.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 3.—Don Miller, Notre Dame back continued his brilliant work today and was the stellar performer of Notre Dame's 34 to 7 victory over Purdue. Miller scored two touchdowns, made four runs of better than 25 yards, gained 50 yards after receiving passes and added another 30 yard run after a pass, but the play was not allowed. He has been the individual star of the Notre Dame team in its victories over Princeton, Georgia, Technical.

Jimmy Crowley running mate to Miller ran flashily for shorter gains all day and with Stuhldreher was on the throwing end of Miller's passes. Layden pierced the Purdue line for 23 yards at one try and added other strong gains as well as averaging 48 yards on his punts.

Mayer scored a touchdown after a sharp run. Crowe, Bach and Walsh starred defensively for Notre Dame, and Wellman and Claypool for Purdue. The Boiler-maker offense was stopped except in the second quarter when, with a second string Notre Dame line in the game, Gladders broke thru the line for 33 yards and after an exchange of punts, Proutt made a brilliant run of 65 yards for the only score.

GOT THE BREAKS

New York.—Hank Gowdy of the Giants and Ernie Johnson of the Yankees sure got a great break in getting into the world series. Boston tried to waive Gowdy out of the National League as did the White Sox. Johnson, The two New York clubs refused to waive Johnson thereby putting to the test the extent of better than $6,000 and Gowdy more than $4,000.

BUSH HITS HARD

New York.—Joe Bush of the New York Americans is one of the best hitting pitchers in the game. In the recent world series Bush enjoyed a distinction that seldom comes to a pitcher. In the final game of the series, with the bases filled, he was the Yankee selected to do the pinch hitting. He walked on four straight balls, showing the fear the pitchers on the Giants' staff had of him.

DARTMOUTH IS EASY FOR CORNELL TEAM

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 3.—Four times the great Cornell football machine rolled down the field today with its crushing tackle attack and each time carried the ball across the Dartmouth line, twice goals from the field sailed between the Dartmouth goal posts and at the end of the game the Dartmouth team, conqueror of Harvard, edged and beat 32 to 7. For Cornell it was the twenty-first consecutive victory. For Dartmouth it was a taste of the same bitter "dedication medicine" that the big green administered to Harvard to the University of Washington and again to the University of Vermont when their athletic fields and stands were inaugurated.

Conclusive as the victory was it was not Cornell's offensive power alone that counted in the final result for the first two touchdowns followed Dartmouth fumbles, both just inside the 25-yard line. A third fumble, inside the 20 yard line, figured in the last goal from field. Yet, in each case, Cornell, in possession of the ball in Green territory, proved irresistible.

Dartmouth was seldom able to gain consistently against Cornell.

HOPPE BEATS CONTI HOREMAN ALSO WINS

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(A. P.)—William F. Hoppe, the champion, defeated Roger Conti, of France, 500 points to 361 today in the twelfth game of the world's 18.2 ball line billiards championship. Hoppe had high runs of 135; 103; and 98. Conti played more consistently than in his other matches of the tournament. He had a high run of 97. He was a bit nervous and missed shots that ordinarily would be easy for him.

New York, Nov. 3.—(A. P.)—Edouard Horemans of Belgium today defeated Erich Hagenlacher of Germany 500 points to 201 in the eleventh match of the world's 18.2 ball line billiard tournament. Hagenlacher was sick and made a poor showing while Horemans played his best game of the week having high runs of 130 and 117, and completing his string in 16 innings.

Mrs. William Freitag of Ashland was shopping in the city Saturday.

NORTHWESTERN IS HANDED DEFEAT BY FAST MINNESOTANS

Graham, Gopher's Fast Quarter is Sensation of Game.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 3.—Led by Captain Martineau and Malcolm Graham, Minnesota's powerful football machine trampled Northwestern under foot today in a game of many thrills at Northrop Field, piling up 34 well earned points to the Purple's fourteen. Northwestern scored its initial touchdown on the first play of the game before the 18,000 fans had time to settle comfortably in their seats when Captain McIlwain heaved a long pass on his twenty yard line which was blocked by Graham, Minnesota's quarterback, but before it reached the ground, Herman, Purple right end, had nabbed it and raced 55 yards for a touchdown.

After receiving the second kickoff, on less than a half dozen plays, the Gophers had tied the count and from then on could not be stopped. Graham, Minnesota's fleetfooted quarter by his phenomenal yard gaining performance, stamped himself as one of the speediest ball carriers ever seen on Northrop Field. He literally ran wild, speeding around the ends for gain after gain of 15, 25 and 35 yards bringing back punts for long distances and play then team play like a master mind. He was forced out of play in the third quarter by an injury to his foot.

PRINCETON TIGERS SWAMP SWARTHMORE

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 3.—In a game featured with the broken field running of Vangerbig, Beatrice, Newby and Caulkins of Princeton, the Tiger eleven swamped Swarthmore 35 to 0 at Palmer Stadium this afternoon.

INDIANA TEARS THRU HANOVER WITH EASE

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 3.—Indiana defeated Hanover by the score of 22 to 0 here today. The Hanover line presented little resistance to the Indiana attack. The Crimson warriors tearing thru almost at will.

The contest was played in a sea of mud, a cold drizzling rain pouring down on the crowd that jammed Jordan field to capacity.

IN MEMORIAM WINS BADLY UPSETTING ALL PREDICTIONS

Zev is Second With My Own Trailing in Third Place.

LATONIA, Ky., Nov. 3.—(A. P.)—A Kentucky bred and owned horse, with a Kentucky boy in the saddle caused the great surprise that has climaxed a turf spectacle in year's today, when In Memoriam defeated Zev and his greatest American rival My Own, in the $50,000 Latonia championship stakes before a crowd of 45,000 spectators, who braved a cold drizzling rain to witness the startling upset. The victory of the handsome bay son of McGee-Enchantress owned by Carl Wiedemann, millionaire horseman of Newport, Ky., was convincing. Sprinting into the stretch In Memoriam conquered Zev, the conqueror of Papyrus and winner of the Kentucky derby, raced him into submission and flashed across the wire a winner by at least six lengths.

Back of the flashing heels of Zev came Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own, trailing 8 lengths back. Rialto, the fourth starter in the race was distanced in the stretch and pulled up without even trying to catch the flying leaders.

The race at a gruelling test of one and three quarters miles was run in 3 minutes and 45 seconds 5 1-5 seconds slower than the American record for the distance established by Rockminster in the same race a year ago.

Jockey Mack Garner, the pride of Kentucky's Knights of the Saddle, who rode In Memoriam to victory today, holds the distinction of riding Rockminster when that 3 year old established the record.

Harry F. Sinclair, owner of Zev, evidently was convinced that Zev could not be beaten because he plunged $63,000 in the pari-mutuel machines before the race. This sum was wagered at the track this afternoon in addition to the amounts he wagered before leaving the east. Because Zev and My Own were such overwhelming favorites, a $2 ticket in the pari-mutuel on In Memoriam paid the liberal price of $23.60 to win. The price on Zev was 40 cents to a dollar, while the figure on My Own was $2.75 to $1.

The odds on Rialto were $14.50 to $1. The spectacle aside from the three minutes of stirring struggle, was the most brilliant in the history of the classic race. The crowd at the finish cheered wildly as Jockey Garner, his boyish face alight, was lifted to the platform in front of the stand and took his place with Owner Wiedemann while James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio made the presentation speech in presenting Wiedemann with a gold cup valued at $5,000.

YALE CRUSHES ARMY IN SMASHING GAME BEFORE BIG CROWD

Stamp Themselves As One of Greatest Teams of East.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 3.—By The A. P.—Sweeping to gridiron glory it had not known in recent years, Yale crushed the Army, 31 to 10, today, and stamped itself as one of the greatest eleven the east has turned out this year. A brilliant throng of 77,000 witnessed the smashing triumph.

A bewildering, irresistible attack in the second half swept the rugged cadets off their feet. West Point left the field at the end of the first with a margin of 10 to 7, chiefly by virtue of a sensational 69 yard run for touchdown by Quarterback Smythe, after the rival teams had battled on close to even terms. But the soldiers came back unprepared for the rush of the Blue horde a dashing onslaught that carried all before it for the rest of the game.

COBB PRAISES RECRUIT

Detroit.—Ty Cobb believes that in Pitcher Whitehill, Detroit has picked up the prize pitching recruit of the season. According to Cobb, Whitehill has everything that goes to make up a great pitcher, including courage. He lacks only experience. Whitehill is the young southpaw who held the Yankees to one hit in six innings, and Cleveland two hits in a regular game during the closing days of the season.

WELKER COCHRAN DEFEATS SCHAEFER

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(A.P.)—Welker Cochran, of Los Angeles, defeated Jacob Schaefer, 500 points to 54 tonight and brought about a triple tie between himself and Schaefer and William F. Hoppe, for the lead in the world's 18.2 ball line billiard tournament.

The score: Cochran—12, 87, 0, 2, 124, 141, 52, 82—total 500. Average—62.4-8; high run 141. Schaefer—16, 1, 0, 16, 21, 0, 0—total 54. Average—7.5-7; high run 21.

Cochran in running out, in eight innings, set the single high average in the tournament, 62.4-8. He had high runs of 141, 124 and 87, and unfinished run of 82. Cochran defeated Hoppe Wednesday night. The match was played in the shortest time on record for 500 points, one hour and fifty minutes. Cochran's victory gave him a decided edge for the championship as his opponent for Monday is Edward Horemans, while Schaefer must meet Hoppe. Should Cochran defeat the Belgian he will be tied with the winner of the Hoppe-Schaefer match and a playoff for the title will be necessary. In the event Cochran is defeated the winner of the Hoppe-Schaefer match will be champion.

Cochran, 27 years old, is a native of Manson, Iowa. He now owns a billiard room in Hollywood, California. He began playing billiards when he was 16 years old and became a pupil of Irving Perkins, who tutored Calvin Demarest a former world's champion. Cochran developed his game in the San Francisco billiard parlor of Ed Graney, a noted sportsman. Most of his billiard work was in exhibitions and he became an international star in the tournament of 1921 at Chicago when he set a new world's record high run in competition of 384 in defeating George Sutton. He finished third in that tournament.

Last year Cochran won only one game in the international tournament, Eric Hagenlacher of Germany, being his victim. The only match that Cochran has lost this year has been to the German champion. Cochran mastered the balls beautifully tonight. He made seemingly impossible shots at times to gather the balls and his delicate stroking was pretty to see.

TRIPLE PLAYS JINX CLEVELAND CLUB

When it comes to figuring in triple plays the Cleveland club of the American League is entitled to the original brown derby. Triple plays and the Cleveland club are synonymous.

Last season five triple plays were made in the American League, four of these were pulled at the expense of the Cleveland club. Since Cleveland was nosed out of second place by a mere half game, some blame can be attached to the Indians' habit of hitting into triple plays.

Two unassisted triple plays were made in the majors last season. Both of these plays were made by Boston clubs, the Red Sox putting one over on the Indians while the Braves turned the trick against Philadelphia.

In all nine triple plays were made in the majors, five in the American and four in the National.

In pulling unassisted triple plays, George Burns of the Red Sox and Ernest Padgett of the Braves won undying fame. The baseball records show that on only three other occasions has a player been able to retire the side unassisted.

Back in 1878 Paul Hines performed the feat in the National. It is a rather interesting fact that in the American League two Cleveland players pulled the stunt. Neal Ball, playing short for Cleveland in 1909, turned the trick against Boston. Second baseman Bill Wambegans won fame and glory in the 1920 world series with Brooklyn.

All of which merely proves that when it comes to figuring in triple killings the Cleveland club is away out in front.

JOHN L. AIDED IN EFFORT TO DIG UP LAD TO BEAT GANS

BOSTON. (NEA)—Joe Gans was one, colored fighter who was highly esteemed by boxing devotees of all shades. The Baltimore oyster fiend whose reassuring message to his mammy, apropos of the outcome of an impending fight, "I'll bring home bacon," now occupies an exalted place in American slang, was not only a remarkable boxer, but a quiet, well-mannered man.

His white competitors conceded his rare skill and many ring authorities of uncommonly sound judgment insist today that Gans was the greatest lightweight of all time. But John L. Sullivan, the Boston heavyweight, never thought so. John L. had a positive dislike for Gans, and spent much of his time trying to unearth a man to beat him.

Sullivan was always on hand when Gans battled—always in the hope that he would see the colored man punched lifeless. On one occasion Sullivan even went in the corner of a Gans opponent. This was when Spike Sullivan met the Marylander before the Broadway A. C. at New York.

John L. was in a particularly snarly mood and his instructions to Spike were thickly buttered with vicious invective. Spike, however, was hopelessly outclassed and the late Charlie White, who was refereeing, stopped the fight to save the white boy from serious punishment.

John L. was furious. A Boston alderman at the ringside, stirred on by the old heavyweight's prolonged protestations, climbed over the ropes and took a healthy punch at Referee White. A general free-for-all followed and quiet was not restored until plain clothesmen had literally dragged John L. out of the building.

What's in A Name?

HARRY STUHLREHER

What's in a name? Gipsy—easy to say, easy to head-line—flashed across the sporting pages of the country. Mohardi and Castner, easily recognized, were repeated without prejudice whenever their performance demanded it.

Last year Crowley, Miller and Layden, new Notre Dame backfield men of promise, were introduced to the country. The fourth backfield star, regarded by many as the greatest man of the quartet, was slighted. The best Notre Dame quarterback since Brandy and a man who may become known as the best Notre Dame quarterback of all time, was deliberately deprived of credit. His runs were often credited to Crowley, Castner or Miller.

Harry's one trouble is his last handle—Stuhldreher. From the time he first broke into the big battles at Atlanta against Georgia Tech until the season ended with a glorious effort against Nebraska, newspaper men struggled valiantly with those syllables then in despair gave him up and changed it to abbreviated forms. The Atlanta men made it "Stuler," at West Point it was "Stuley." The full name was reserved for ceremonious occasions like touchdowns. Harry knows of this but stands by the ship and refuses to adopt a shorter cognomen. However, it looks as if there was something in a name after all.

WHITE HALL DEFEATS CRACK SCHUYLER TEAM

Rushville's Championship Hoops Blasted by Close Game With Greene County Boys—Score 9 to 7.

Rushville high school was defeated by White Hall on the latter's gridiron yesterday afternoon by a score of 9 to 7. The Schuyler county aggregation was out for the state championship until the defeat of yesterday. This was Rushville's fifth game of the season and her first defeat.

Up until the last two minutes of play, the score stood 7 to 6 in favor of Rushville. At the last moment Bill Smith, the White Hall fullback, made a successful drop kick, which won the game for the Greene county eleven.

The game opened with considerable punting on both sides. White Hall soon took the ball into the enemy's territory and kept it there during most of the game. At the end of the first half Rushville had failed to score and the ball was on her 20 yard line. White Hall secured her touchdown in the second quarter but failed to kick goal. Stars for White Hall were the ends, Kemp and England, both playing a whirlwind game.

In the third quarter Rushville secured her touchdown by forward passing and kicked goal. The Schuyler boys made most of their gains by forward passing, but were weak on line plunges. The White Hall line put up a good defense, and the fast work of her ends kept the ball in Rushville territory. The score remained 7 to 6 in Rushville's favor until Smith's spectacular dropkick toward the end of the final quarter. In the remaining few seconds, White Hall forced the ball to Rushville's one-yard line and the whistle prevented another touchdown for the Greene county eleven.

White Hall will meet Greenfield high next Saturday at White Hall.

"RABBIT" PASSES Pittsburgh—The inside dope is that Rabbit Maranville is thru at Pittsburgh. The Rabbit is hardly thru as a player, but rumor has it that Barney Dreyfus isn't exactly satisfied with the Pirate's infield and that a new shortstop will be welcomed. Incidentally it might be mentioned that Wright, crack shortstop of the Kansas City club, is certain to succeed Maranville.

COPPER INDUSTRY TO PROSPER

Statistician Discusses Commodity and Securities

Wellesley Hills, Mass., Nov. 2.—Cooper securities at a new low for the year, reached during the last two weeks, have stirred the interest of the investor. Roger W. Babson's survey on the industry is particularly helpful in this connection. In a report of his findings issued today, the statistician pictures the situation clearly.

"The copper industry has for some time been rolling in the doldrums of low prices and depressed market conditions," says Mr. Babson. "From Aug. 1921 through 1922 and into the first quarter of this year, prices moved steadily upward. In March a temporary reaction set in and during the past seven months the trend has been markedly downward. Present quotations are on a par with those of the early part of 1922."

"Apparent domestic consumption, since the low points of 1921, has continued in an uninterrupted rise. About 700,000,000 pounds were consumed by domestic manufacturers during 1921; 1,100,000,000 pounds during 1922, and an estimate for the present calendar year places the amount of excess of 1,400,000,000, a figure closely approximating that of maximum war activity during 1918."

"The export situation is comparatively good and improving. Export figures have risen steadily from 504,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June, 1921, to an amount that will probably exceed 750,000,000 pounds for the present calendar year. This figure is in excess of any previous to 1912, and closely approximates the years immediately preceding the war.

"During the past seven months there has been no appreciable decline in manufacturing activity. Actual domestic consumption has had only a slight recession. Exports have held well. The basic reason for the present low market is found in the cleaning up of stocks of raw material held by manufacturers."

"The accumulation of such stocks inevitably accompanies a period of intense activity such as the mills experienced last spring, for it then becomes necessary to keep a larger supply on hand to insure uninterrupted operation. With these greasing-the-machinery stocks now reduced to about normal, fabricators must enter the market to cover new orders for copper and brass products. This basic reason for the present low point is in itself a strong argument for heavier purchases and consequent higher prices."

"All indications point to the fact that the stage is being set for a long awaited buying movement. Nearly every appreciable upward turn in prices has been directly preceded by an abrupt drop in shipments from the refineries to domestic mills. In September domestic deliveries were only 93,900,000 pounds, the lowest since early in 1922 and our 30,000,000 pounds below the average point for the first eight months of this year."

"Copper buying has always come in waves. Psychology enters the market in a persistent tendency to follow the crowd, and is often the deciding factor in the direction and extent of a price movement. Another indication of approaching strength is the length and extent of the declining market. Since the latter part of March there has been no halt in the fall of copper prices. A study of market fluctuations for the past fifteen years shows that six months is the maximum limit of a continued price trend."

"For the time being these factors will presumably have more weight in the market than the relative status of stocks, production, consumption, etc. Postwar production has not yet been properly adjusted to peacetime consumption. Until such an adjustment is made, prices will be determined not so much by the ratio of supply and demand, as by the rate of expressed demand in the form of sales, that is, the volume of refined copper actually changing hands from producer to consumer."

"The fact that general business is working sidewise and slightly downward—the Babson chart shows present activity 16 percent below normal—may delay this recovery somewhat."

"The position of the industry judged by itself, would suggest the purchase of copper stocks. The fact, however, that long swing trend of the stock market and general business is still downward in a retreating factor. A single group of stocks cannot well run counter to the fund the entire market. When the bottom has been reached, however, and the long swing upward is in order, copper stocks should be among the first to benefit by the rise."

COMING TO THE GRAND

Twelve capacity weeks on Broadway were not enough to take care of the crowds eager to see the sensational Cosmopolitan superphotograph, "Enemies of Women," and arrangements were made to continue the run indefinitely at the Cameo Theater. Each day since the opening Sunday has brought capacity houses for every showing. The crowds are thrilled and entertained by the many beautiful and sensational moments in the swift-moving story that Ibanez has written and that Cosmopolitan has so faithfully reproduced on the screen.

The cast is like all Cosmopolitan casts—flawless. Headed by Lionel Barrymore, Alma Rubens, Gareth Hughes, Gladys Hulette, William H. Thompson, William Collier, Jr., Paul W. Panzer, Pedro de Cordoba and a host of others, they give a perfect playing of the maze of events the writer of "The Four Horsemen" has conceived for his characters. Motion Pictures in telling their story of life as it is lived by those about us, have learned to value the dramatic elements of a fight.

And in these film dramas, as in life, romance plays an important part as the incentive for those frays, for there is seldom a fight that does not involve a woman's heart.

Such combats quicken the pulse beats and send a vibrant thrill through an audience.

"Enemies of Women" will come to the Grand, Nov. 6th to 9th.

JAPANESE FLOWERS AT "MUM" SHOW
URBANA—Actors in the next big show at the University of Illinois will set the time of their performance, without a care whether by Japanese, from the Imperial Gardens of Tokio, Japan. It will be their first appearance and for many of them the last.

This all accounts for the fact that the University is unable to tell when their "biggest chrysanthemum show" will be held. The best calculation of the show master is that it will start, with the blooms in full maturity, the public will come, the University has given assurance, and will witness a display that will surpass any of the previous university "mum" shows.

Illinois Beauty Leaps Into Fame By Wonderful Acting in Leading Role of Great Photoplay

As she was and is—In the upper left Mary Philbin, star of "Merry-Go-Round" as she appears today. The full length figure shows her as she appeared when she was selected a beauty contest winner staged by 10,000 Elks in Chicago two years ago. The lower circle shows the now famous Illinois beauty, in her first role, and the small picture is of Mary and her mother, arriving at Universal City, California to begin her career as a motion picture actress.

They say that the story of the young girl who becomes a star over night is all right in fiction, but that it never happens in real life. They say it can't—that it takes years of experience to become a great actress. Usually it does perhaps. But Mary Philbin is the exception that proves the rule. Her fairy tale has come true. Mary Philbin, however, is a born actress. Her brilliant performance in "Merry-Go-Round" is one of the outstanding sensations of the film world. She will appear in the big film at the MAJESTIC THEATER Monday and will continue through Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Norman Kerry, the stalwart, handsome screen lover, plays opposite Miss Philbin. "Merry-Go-Round" is in 10 reels.

CASS COUNTY BALLOTS DECLARED NOT LEGAL Defect in Township Organization BalLOTS Threaten to Crimp Plans for Tuesday—Corrected Tickets Printed.
Virginia, Nov. 3.—An opinion by the attorney general's office which seriously questions the legality of the township organization ballots on which the voters will express their wishes next Tuesday fell like a bombshell Thursday morning in the ranks of those who are desirous of making a change in the form of the government. The opinion handed down by the attorney general, resulted in a demand being made upon the county clerk Thursday afternoon for the printing of supplementary ballots worded as provided by the statutes.

The question of the legality of the ballots was put up to the attorney general Wednesday afternoon. An opinion was promised Wednesday evening or Thursday morning. In handing down his opinion Attorney General said:

"Section 2 of Chapter 129 of the statutes of Illinois provides that the ballot shall state 'For' and 'Against' township organization. The ballots prepared for the voters of your county are not made in accordance with that law. The supreme court of this state in a number of opinions, holds that where the statutes provide for the form of the ballot, that statute shall be followed in detail. Therefore, I hold that the township organization ballots are unsafe, to say the least. The only remedy is for them to be re-worded and re-printed immediately."

The township organization's committee first secured the correct form of the ballot from a local attorney and then presented it to Mr. Jacobs, who promised to have the corrected ballots printed. The demand upon the county clerk was made by F. C. Wallbaum, who presented the petition for township organization.

OLD ENGLISH TOWN MAKES NOVEL GIFT

Hingham, Mass. —(A P)—Wood from an oak tree planted by Queen Elizabeth went into the making of three chairs which have been shipped from Hingham, Norfolk, England, to this town. They are the gift of Harry C. Tofts, a builder in the English Hingham, to the Bay State township which was funded by men from the Norfolk town in the seventeenth century.

Sixteen years ago the top of the tree planted by the great Queen in Kimberly Park died and it became necessary to fell it. Mr. Tofts bought the timber and stored it. A few years ago he met Rev. Louis C. Corbish, secretary of the American Unitarian Association, who for sixteen years was minister of the First Parish Church of Hingham, Mass. and decided to make through him his gift to this town.

Mr. Tofts made the chairs, which were designed by Hugh Mottram after a model of a chair of the period when the Hingham men emigrated to America. Mr. Tofts stipulated that one of them should be used by the chairman of the board of selectmen, one be placed in the First Parish meetinghouse, erected in 1681, and the third be used by Mr. Cornish during his life time, and after that go to the minister of the First Parish Church in perpetuity.

FINGER GRAFTED ON TO REPLACE NOSE

SYDNEY, N. S. W., (A. P.)—The successful grafting of a new nose on the face of a human being has been made possible by the wonders and triumph of modern surgery, it was demonstrated here recently when the operation was performed on Thomas Kilcullen at Sydney hospital.

Kilcullen lost his nose through an operation. Surgeons expressed the belief that they could graft a nose to his face, using the middle finger of his left hand for the missing organ.

The delicate and painful operation took three weeks. The finger, still attached to Kilcullen's hand, was bound closely to his face, after the skin had been prepared to make the grafting possible. His left hand and arm were bandaged so that they could not be moved and in that position Kilcullen remained until the graft was completed, when the finger was severed from the hand.

The surgeons said that Kilcullen will be able to breathe thru the transplanted finger and will even be able to blow it. They could not guarantee that it will serve as an organ with which Kilcullen could distinguish various odors.

Market Report

STOCK PRICES MOVE TO HIGHER GROUND

FINANCIAL
Total stock sales 514,100 shares.
Twenty industrials averaged 89.63; net gain .72.
High 1923: 105.38; low 85.76.
Twenty railroads averaged 82.85; net loss .01.
High 1923: 90.51; low 79.53.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Constructive forces were again at work in today's stock market, the most effective last holiday session since last spring with the result that prices continued their move to higher ground after an early period of irregularity.

Floor traders and others who had bought stocks for a turn following the unexpected declaration on an extra dividend by the United States Steel corporation continued to take profits in the usual industrial leaders, all of whom opened at concessions. The offerings were well absorbed and the general list headed upward.

U. S. Steel, Baldwin and Studebaker all reached new high levels on the movement.

Steel closed 1 higher at 93 1/2. Baldwin touched 124 but reacted later to 123 1/2, up 1, and Studebaker showed a net gain of 14 points at 10 1/2. American Woolen was another strong feature, closing 1 1/2 higher at 74.

Rails were mixed, a drop of 12 in Chesapeake & Ohio being one of the outstanding developments in that group. There were a few strong spots notably New Orleans, Texas & Mexico, Southern Pacific, Wheeling & Lake Erie preferred and Lackawanna all up a point or more.

Foreign exchanges were again heavy. Demand sterling, duplicated at its previous low of the year $4.45 1/2.

German marks fell so low that most of the large banks declined to do any business in them. French francs held relatively steady at 5.76 1/2 cents.

Active United States government bonds held firm in relatively dull trading. Total sales (par) 5,792,000.
